Jeff, (Sargeant)
 I am really glad I got to know you, even though we have a difference in time. I thought I got stuck with you when I got stuck
 some more later in the year.
 I really want to thank you for giving me a ride some of the times I was at the La Vallies. Oh well I took up most of this page in this book so I will stop on ya later

Jeff,
 Well what can I say to such a close friend. We've been through long days and nights. But I everything else! You & I are really close friends and it is going to be one hell-a summer. Don't worry about the Cuba situation it will shatter itself out.

Starting the 1976-77 school year with new and old faces alike, we remember the past yet dream towards the future.

In reaching for our "Dreams in Flight", living through fairytales and nightmares, we often encounter absence and emptiness. Lost in thought among stars or clouds, in places only the mind can travel, imagination opens a whole new world of ambitions, hopes, and dreams, providing a driving force in our life ahead.

Will Jeff ever ask me out?

Hey Jeff go for it friends always say Party on.

WSSONARY

It happens sometimes when you least expect:
pictures appear in your mind guiding you through troubled times and on to unforgettable ones. You may picture yourself or the one you love--but whatever--these visions keep you in touch with fantasies yet hold you to reality.

ප්‍රේමාසරත්න

IMAGINARY

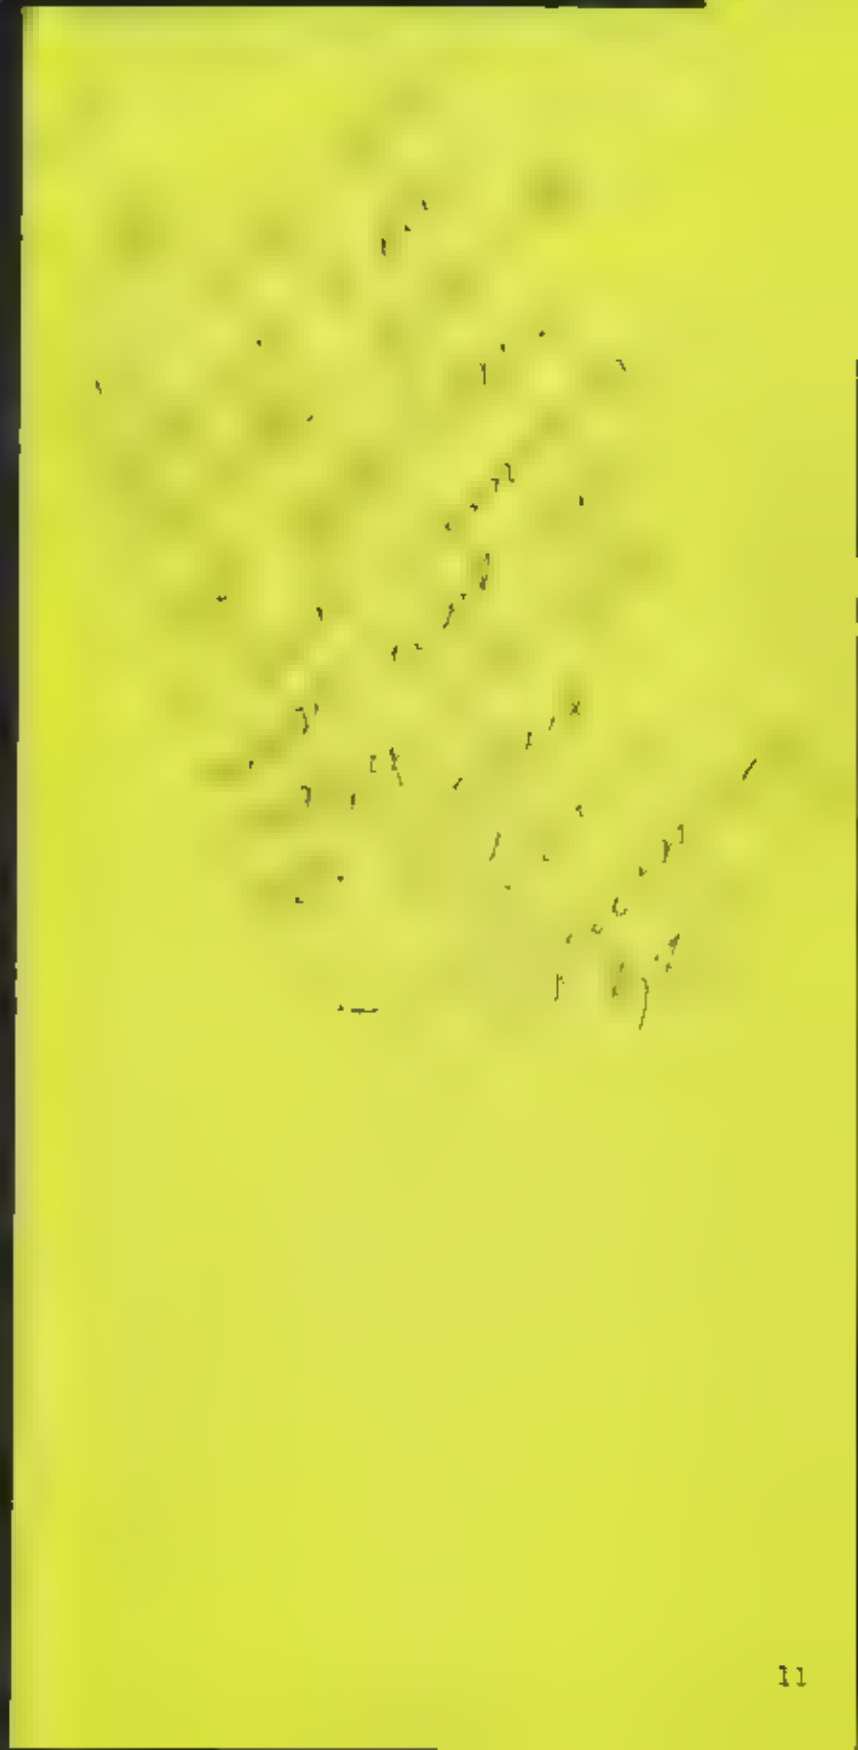

Believing or living your dreams, through unrestrained imagination, provides infinite limitations to the borders of your mind.

Set your goals while your ideas are fresh, and strive towards the life you've imagined.

FRENZEE

FANCYFUL

The Dream I Had

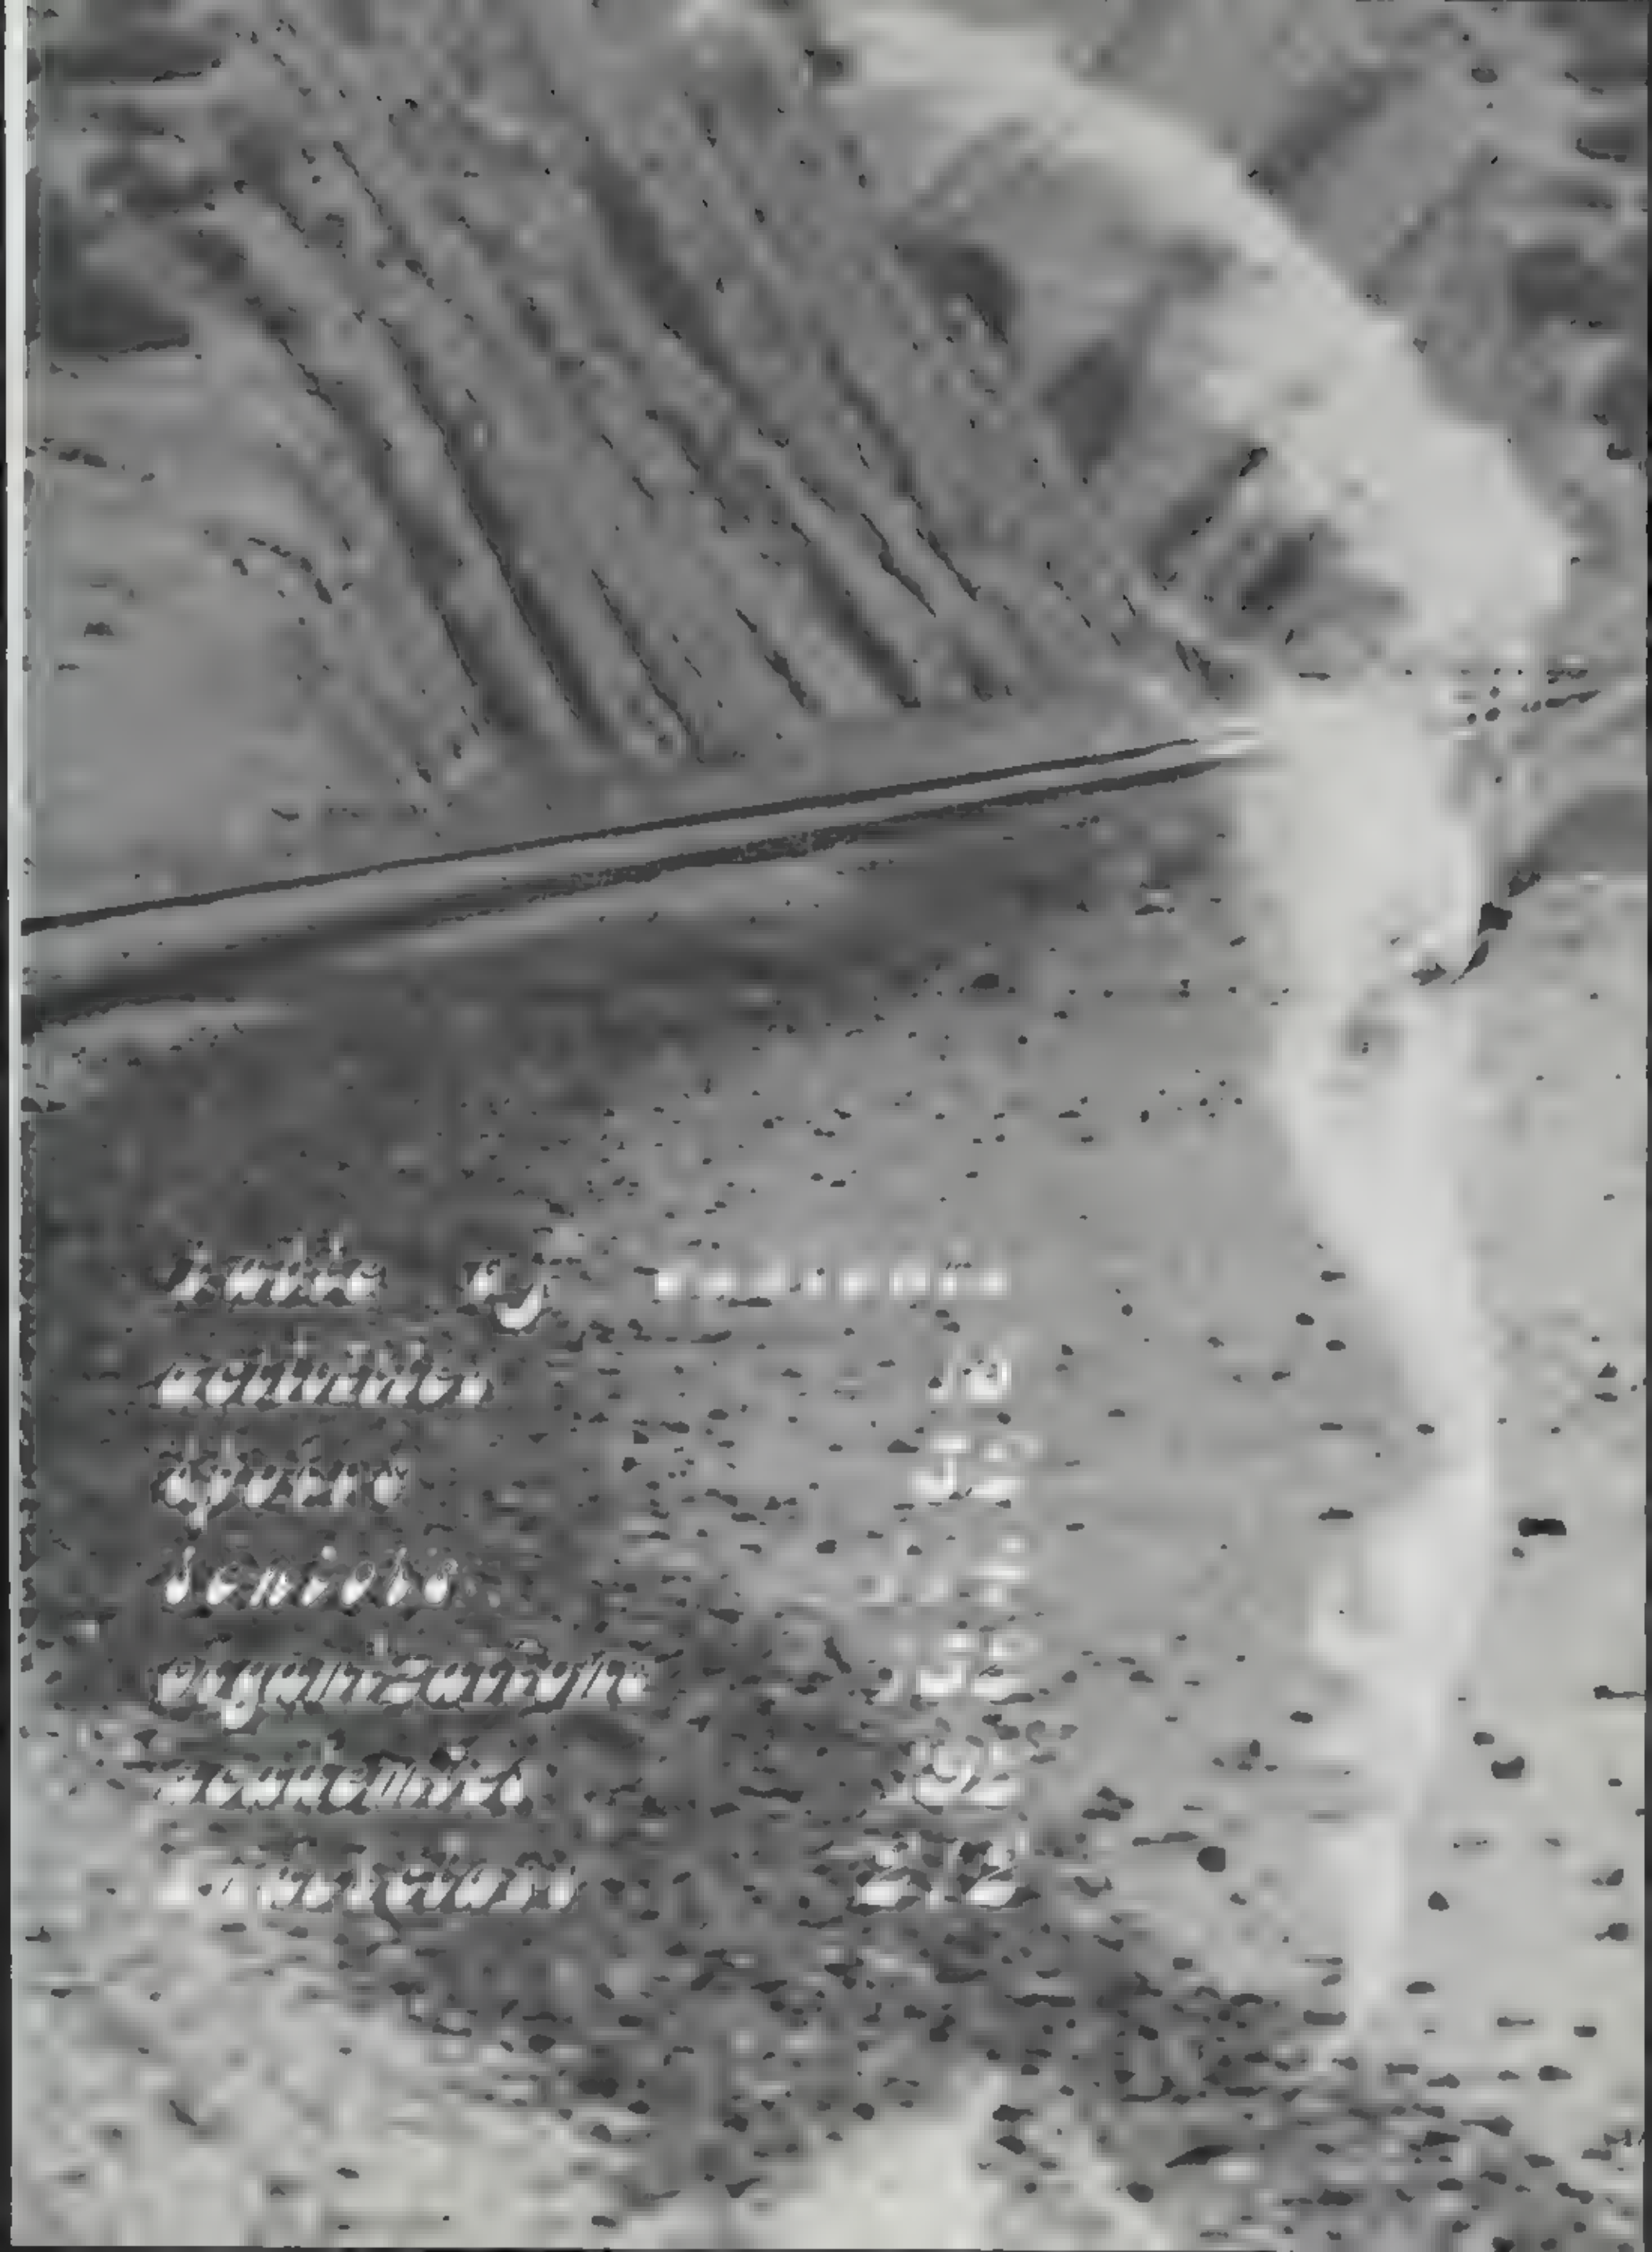

Violet rose the colour of the dream I had,
Misty blue and yellow, too.
Waterfalls cascaded in my mind
As I thought of you.

I saw you in the dream I had.
Walking slowly through fields of wildflower.
In a long white dress you sang a song;
the short minutes felt like joyous hours.

Mellow was the feeling of the dream I had,
Relaxing very comfortable.
Suddenly, there you were walking along.
~~I realized that my feelings of power~~ were directed at you.

Misty blue water fell into a mountain hole
The sight of this caressed my soul and made me remember the dream I had.

ACTIVITIES

1. Jack Raab smiles at the Thespians trophies.
2. David Fissel munches at the Thespian Booth.
3. Kay Ferling, Sue Paulson, and Kim Kramer await signups at the popular Key Club Booth.
4. Karen Gaylord signs up for a club.
5. Alison Cain smiles behind the Eiffel Tower at the French Club Booth.
6. Sid Robinson and Steve Arena at the Rowdy Buzzards Club.

Are you destined to be another Clark Gable? Affected by ski fever? Are you a gourmet (or gourmand) of French foods? Are you Joe Hiker? Or maybe just one of those helplessly helpful persons interested in aiding the community?

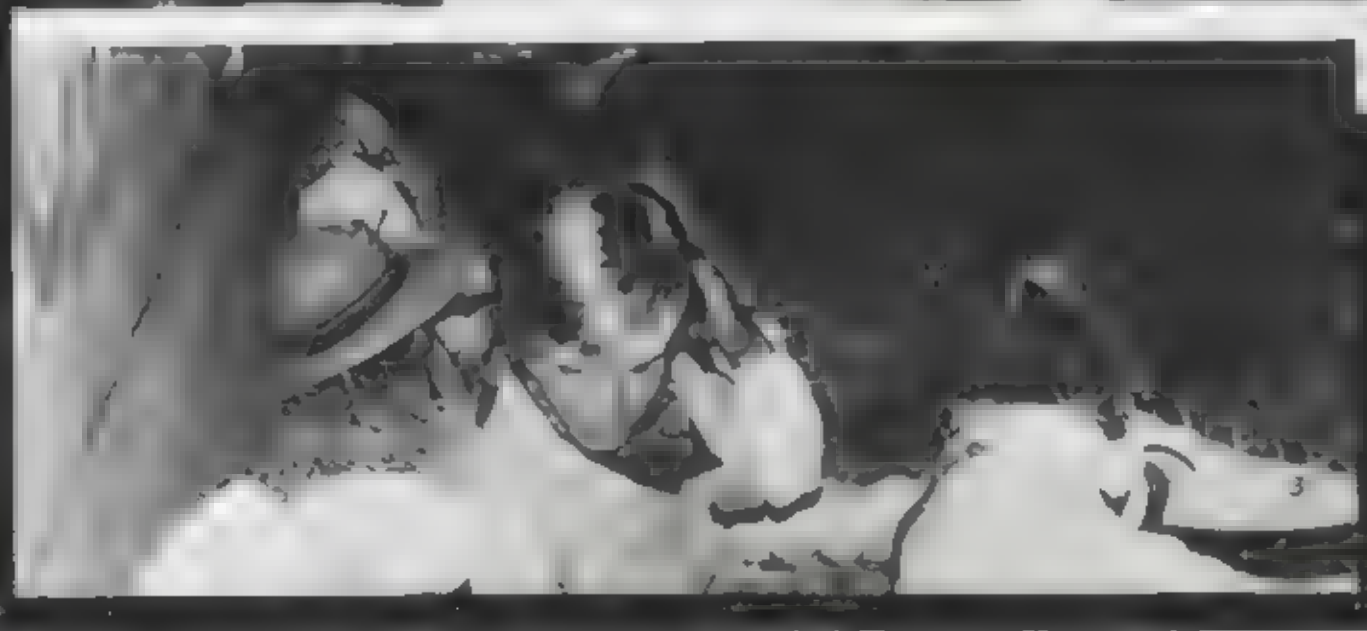

Whatever your interests, C.H.S. Club Day promised a wide variety of outlets. To prove their enthusiasm, all the clubs on campus provided booths. Raring to encounter a of questions, they set up early that morning.

Some new clubs blossomed, such as Junior Ladies (sorry, junior guys) and the one to unite the loyal, larking Buzzard lovers. As many promising, new members signed the line, Club Day's mission was accomplished.

1. Julie Taylor and Steve Winter exchange vows.
2. A whopping smile from David Ramaley.
3. Scott Kegans frolics in the hay with Sandy Coffman.
4. Krista Carson, Dennis Smith, Sarah Barndollar and Kevin Fortson amuse themselves.
5. Rally squad gets wound up.
6. Sue Ann Gatten and Mike Folden stare in awe.
7. Roxanne Rota and her sweetie boogie down.
8. Tender love amongst the hay.

Laura Woy, President of the Girls League Club and "Senior Woman," was behind the scenes at the '76 Sadie Hawkins Dance. The Girls League Club was divided into a Decorations Committee, an Arrangement Committee, Refreshments and Publicity Committees with Laura as the manager. "I really didn't do that much planning, I just made sure everybody was doing his job", she said.

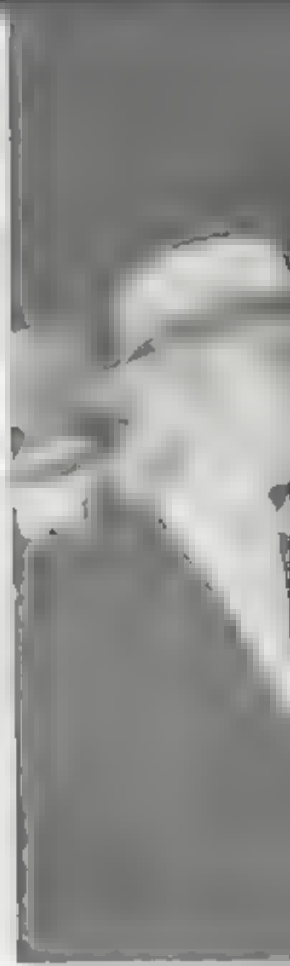

Originally they had planned for only six hundred people, but "we made more enough for two hundred more, and we still had to turn some people down"! Laura said. "The only real problem we had was trying to find a band. At the last minute we found "August" and everybody liked them, so it turned out fine"!

"Laura Holzinger and Chris Evans were the most help concerning the decorations," Laura said enthusiastically. "With the Key Club's help and all the others, clean-up was fast. All in all the Sadie turned out terrific".

1. Chris Evans "flips over" Sid Robinson.
2. Steve Arena pops out of the Jon.
3. Lisa Daniel, Ted Royal, Terri Cohn and Paul Steffan do the Can-Can.
4. A "hairy" couple. Indeed—Eric Rankin and Elena Kay.
5. A 1920's scene by flapper Patty O'Toole and date Rolf Weidhofer.
6. What am I doing at a dance? Ask Chris Jollymour.
7. Kenny Haerr and Sid Robinson make their debuts at the Halloween dance.

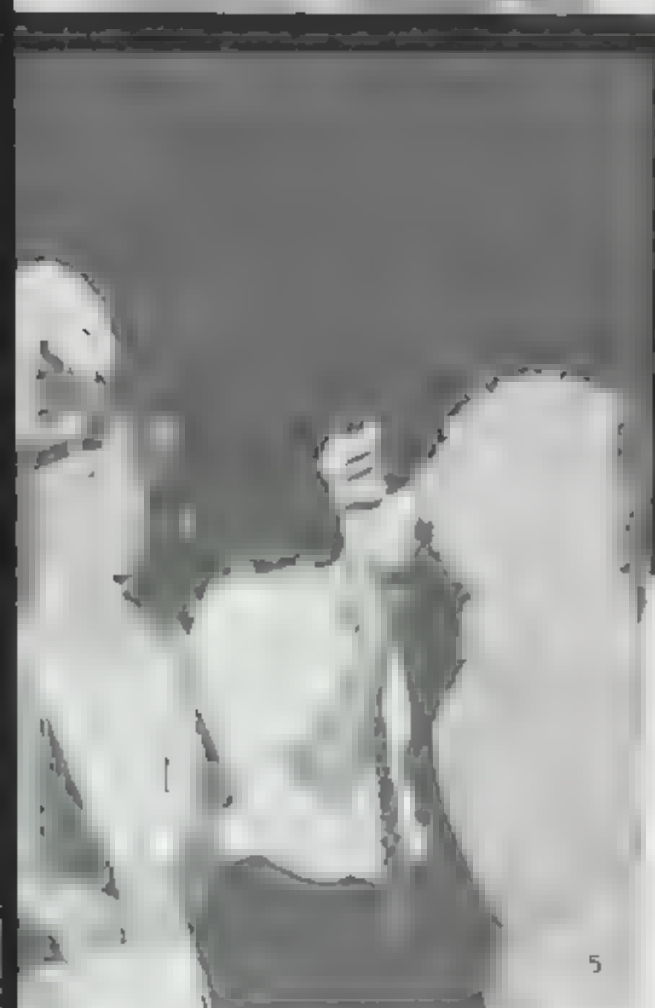

There's a big crowd, and everyone's

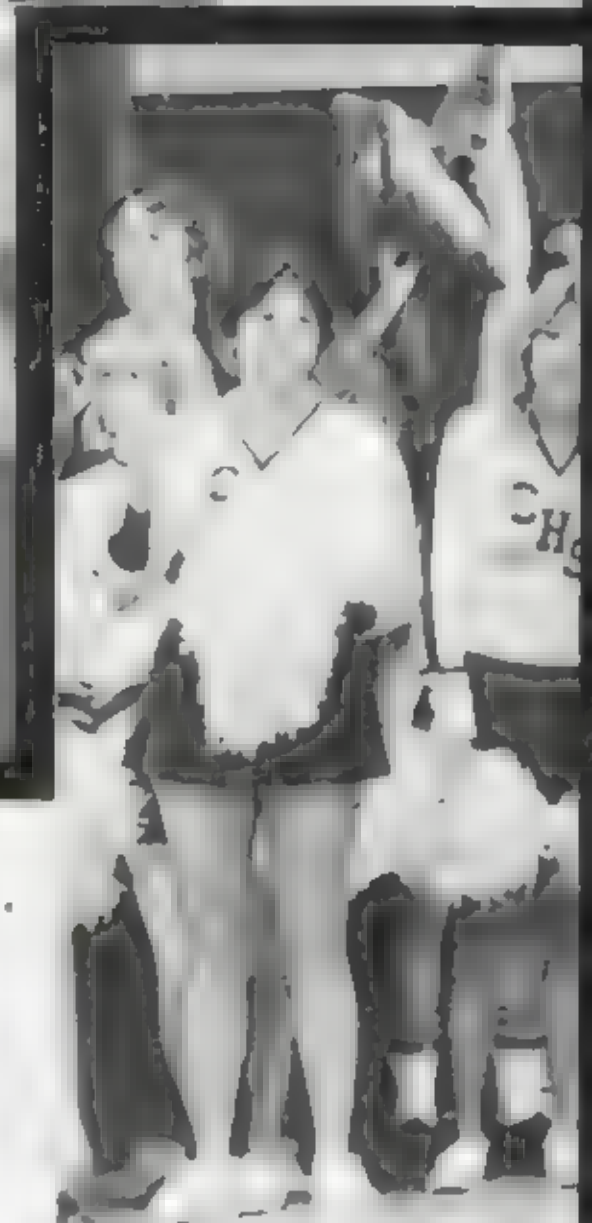

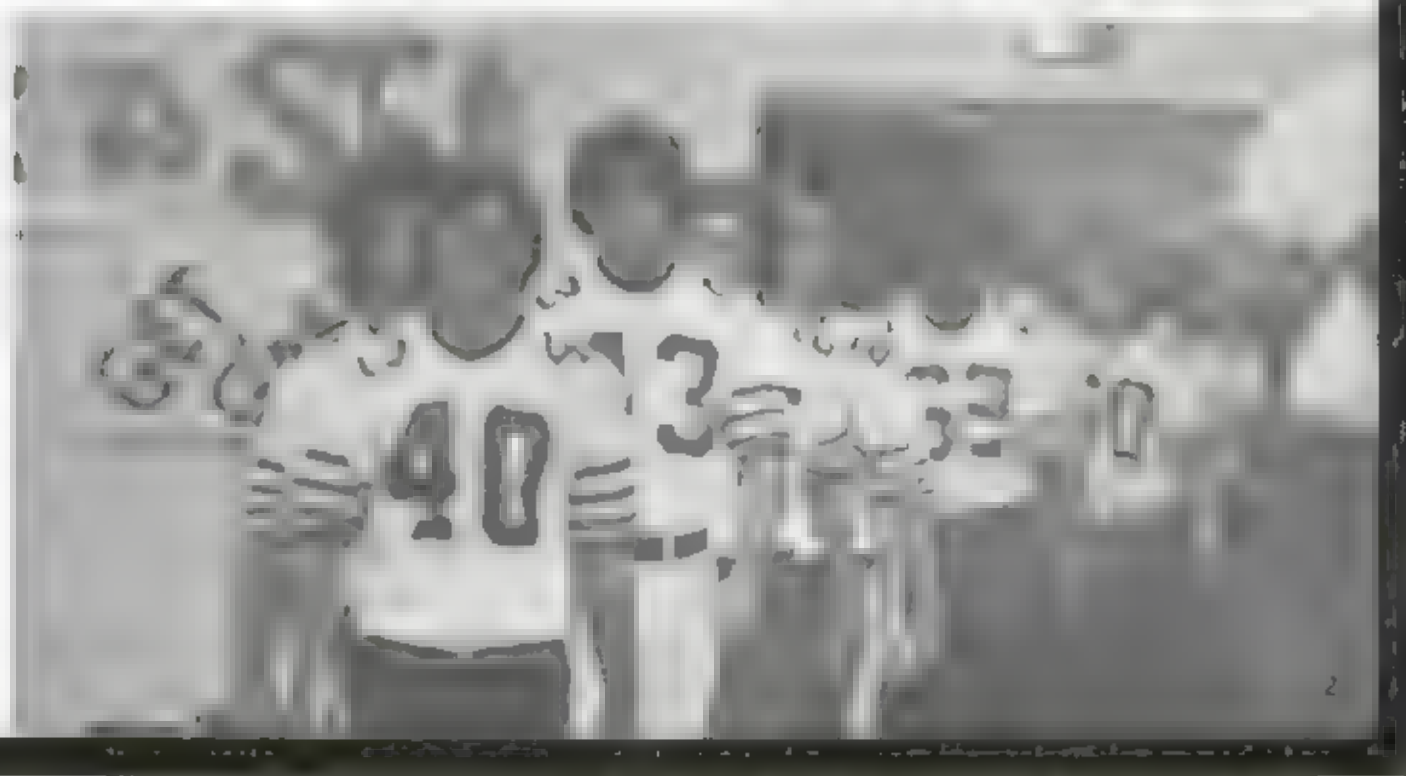

HOT TO TROT

After watching the game for two hours, everyone's ready to get down and boogie to some of the best sounds around. Solid funk, be-bop deluxe, mellow music (for those even hotter to trot), or just plain rock-n-roll is enough to get the crowd moving. There's all kinds of moving going on, too: the hustle, the bus stop, the twist, the locomotion, the bump, the MP Alligator, the pony, the swing, the Rebel, and some people are going crazy doing a little bit of everything.

Hand-clapping and foot-stomping rattle the gym until the band stops playing and the lights go on, always too soon. It seems like the dance just started. Well, it's only midnight. . . .

The Co-ordinating Council has worked hard to make this dance good, and the proceeds go towards Homecoming. Thespians were selling the refreshments.

1. Ron Meyer, Assistant Principal?
2. The football team waltzes into the rally.
3. Mrs. Manley, Mrs. Hardie, Mrs. Yoshida, and Mrs. Ganzel watch the teacher rally.
4. Teachers and staff await their turn to do their thing at the rally.
5. CHS's original band.
6. The CHS teacher cheerleaders wait.

Rallies have become spirited events, with class competition growing rowdier each time. The Junior Ladies and the Senior Women added to the excitement this season. Our own CHS Band was always there to help keep up the pace, along with the ever-present Rally Squad, which was responsible for planning the rallies and seeing that they went smoothly. The newly adopted mascot gave his share of support.

Topping the list of successful rallies was the popular teacher rally. This year students were entertained by the "Royal Flushes," consisting of Mr. Brinegar (lead vocalist), Mr. Iida, Mr. Broncatello, Dr. Martin, and Mr. Daley, a great bunch of musicians. An interesting group of "cheerleaders" also made their debut at the rally, contributing some very original cheers.

1. Honorary Princess Janet Strathern and her escort Coen Jager.
2. Homecoming Queen Karen Huffman and her father.
3. Princess Janet Stark and escort Jim Tullis.
4. Princess Judy Underhill and alumnus escort Jay Jacobson.
5. Princess Teri Ducey and her brother Craig.
6. Princess Karen Frampton and escort Mark Layne.

Early in October David Tipping began serious planning for the annual Homecoming parade.

Working around the theme, "Fabulous Funnies," which was thought up by the Coordinating Council, David's efforts produced another unique parade.

Superman and the Pink Panther were striking highlights along with a winning performance by our band and drill team. Posing as a cheery mascot, who else but the led the 1976 Homecoming parade, which included a float from each class and a band float.

Besides our own high-stepping Band and Drill Team, we were privileged to have the El Roble and La Puerta intermediate school bands and drill teams to add to the fun.

Our five nervous but lovely princesses rode in snazzy little chauffeured cars, inspired by Debbie Johnson, last year's queen, who led the entourage with a smile. Grand Marshall was who else but Mr. Daley! It was a close race in the float competition, but the sophomores took it.

1. "Little Huffy" shocked with happiness.
2. Faculty tries hard to win at the tug-o-war.
3. Sue Schmitz eyes camera at the Homecoming dance.
4. The football team files into the Homecoming rally at Memorial Park.
5. Grand Marshall, Jeff Daley reveals Super Man shirt.
6. 1976 Homecoming court.

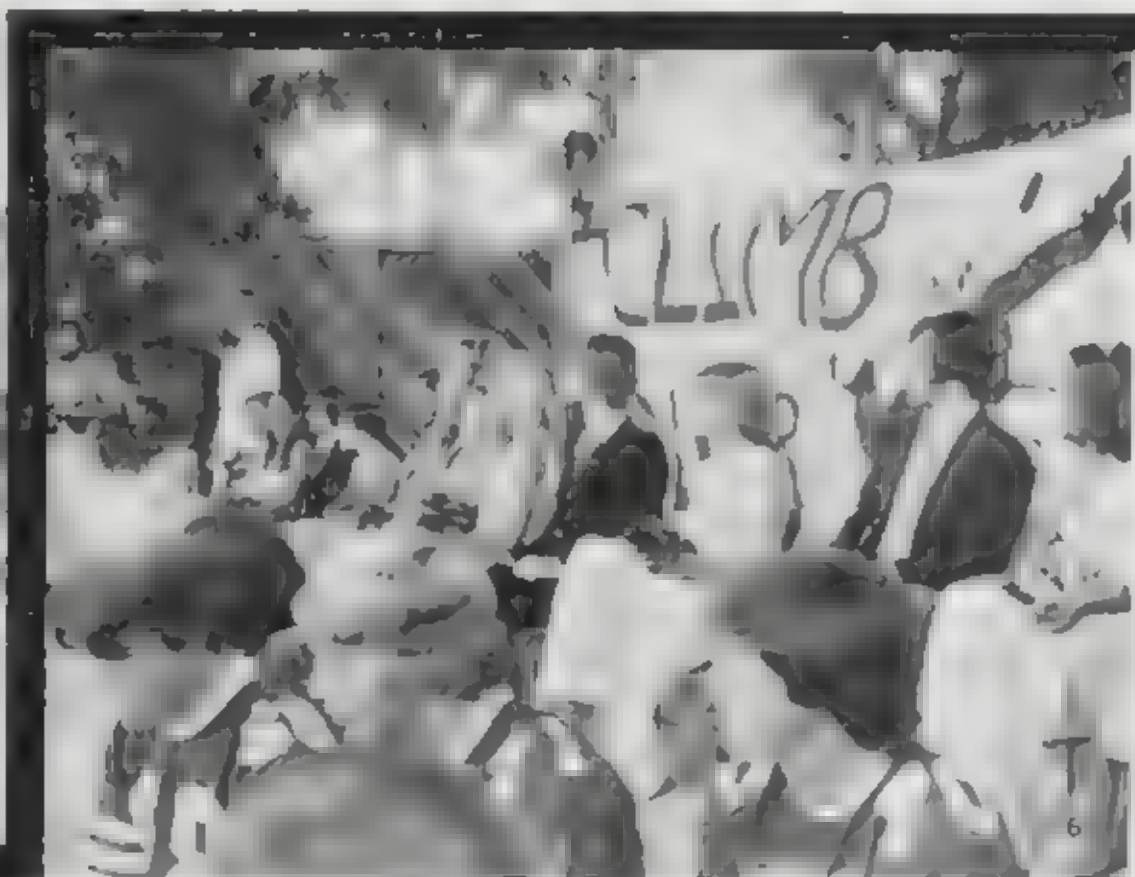

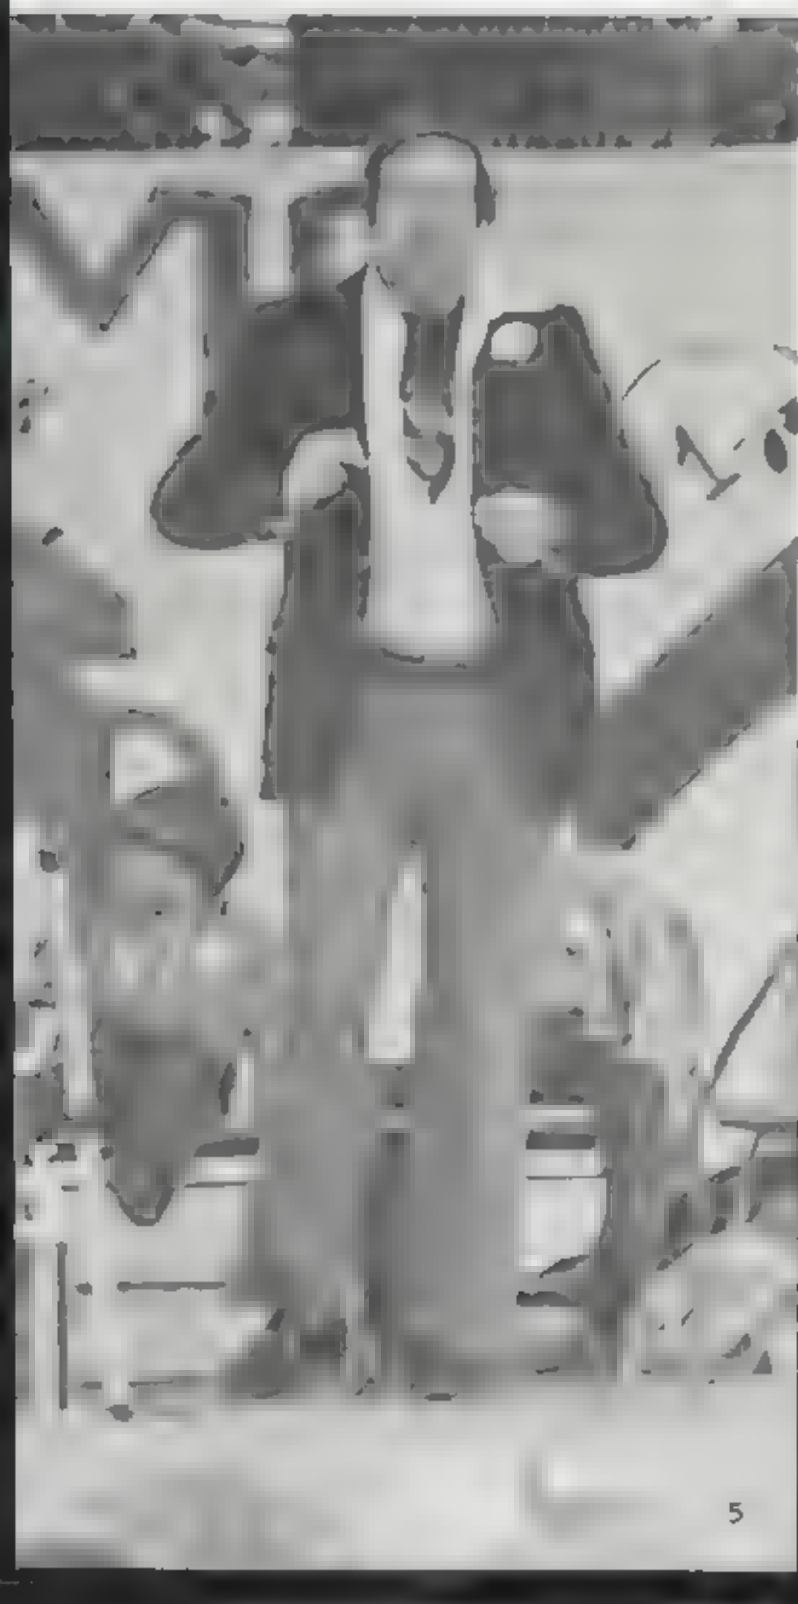

With over 400 beeboppers attending the 1976 "Fabulous Funnies" Homecoming dance, it was indeed

FABULOUS

Mizzouri Foxx shared many of its own creations with the Griswolds' Pavilion crowd.

However, there was one aspect of this dance that many guys who attended could tell you wasn't so funny: formals take bucks. Interviewing 48 of these participants, we found out such a fabulous occasion took more than just a few. The average forked out seemed to have been between $25 and $40, not counting the suit.

Who were the big wheels of the evening? (Plug your ears, ladies.) We found Tim Dooling invested $70, Paul Walker spent $75, Jimmy Tullis $90, and Mark Estupinian scattered 100 of those green gems. Perhaps they'd have liked the strategies of lucky, (cheap-skating?) Neil Anderson and Kurt Kirch, who each spent the low of $15.

Back in December, wasn't our town great? No, not Claremont in December--"Our Town", the drama put on by our department, directed by Fred Chacon. Who played the stage in this particular town? Claire Getts (motherly Mrs. Gibbs), Dave Fissel (Dr. Gibbs), Steve Shick (George Gibbs--the all American boy), Laurie Cucuzza (stem Mother Webb), George Waters (Mr. Webb), and Kathy Dickinson (Emily Webb--or Miss Goody Two Shoes) were among a cast of twenty. Along with Bob Walker, the stage manager, they will remember more than those three performance nights--two months of rehearsals building up to our heaviest drama of the year.

1. Actresses in "Charlie Brown" have a laugh around the old banana.
2. George Waters strikes a serious pose in "Our Town".
3. Judy Frampton flirts with her "beau" in "Our Town".
4. Scott Vessa is a convincing Linus.
5. Heather Glidden as Sally ponders over her homework.
6. Bob Walker shares an informal moment in "Our Town".
7. Tracy Roberts portrays Charlie Brown.

Picture a happy-go-lucky dog who loves to play baseball (but, of course, doesn't know what a rabbit smells like), a crabby little girl shrink who thinks she's a Beethoven lover and pianist, a kid who's in love with his blanket, a cute intelligent, but snobby Patty and a born loser who can never keep a kite in the air. Then feature these Peanuts characters played by Dave Fissel, Krista Carson, Dennis Smith, Scott Vessa and Tracy Roberts—all directed by Mr. Chacon, and you've got a fantastic performance of "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown". The 42 cast show, which was all derived from the about an average Charlie Brown day-home-work, baseball and crushes, began taking shape in September. Jr. Theater class periods, weekends and rehearsals till late at night followed until January. Many new performers "broke a leg" and although the show was basically a children's show, it gathered many grown up children's laughs.

Christmas is the season to be jolly, especially at Claremont High. What were our halls decked with? Mistletoe, of course--a happy encouragement for those

And who says presents are only found under a tree? At Claremont High we had a Santa's mail bag full of goodies; what better way to pep up a drowsy algebra student than a special something from a special someone, delivered during class?

Decorations sprang up all over campus, and even permanent pines took on holiday dress. Caroling, caroling through the quads, our own Chamber Singers wished us all a Merry Christmas. And to top it all, C.H.S.ers welcomed their hero, jolly old (?) Saint Nick, with sleigh, elves, candy canes and all.

1. Robln Olsen leads the choir as they sing Christmas carols.
2. The serenading continues.
3. Santa Claus takes off.
4. The reindeer-less sleigh, loaded with elves.
5. Jill Magee, Helen Weatherall, Laura Holtzinger, Celeste Foster, Debbie Ridgeway, and Jeanie Vislay pose around Santa for their pictures.
6. Sid Robinson waits for customers.

1. Pam Papa and Dave Hart arrive at the Christmas Formal.
2. Kathleen Farley gets in the snow-flake mood.
3. A cheerful smile radiates from Liz Estupinian.
4. Jim Young also shares his rosy smile.
5. Thomas Taylor reflects a holiday twinkle with his date.
6. Allie Branche dances with the man in the three-piece suit.
7. Kyle Ohman laughs at his date's joke.

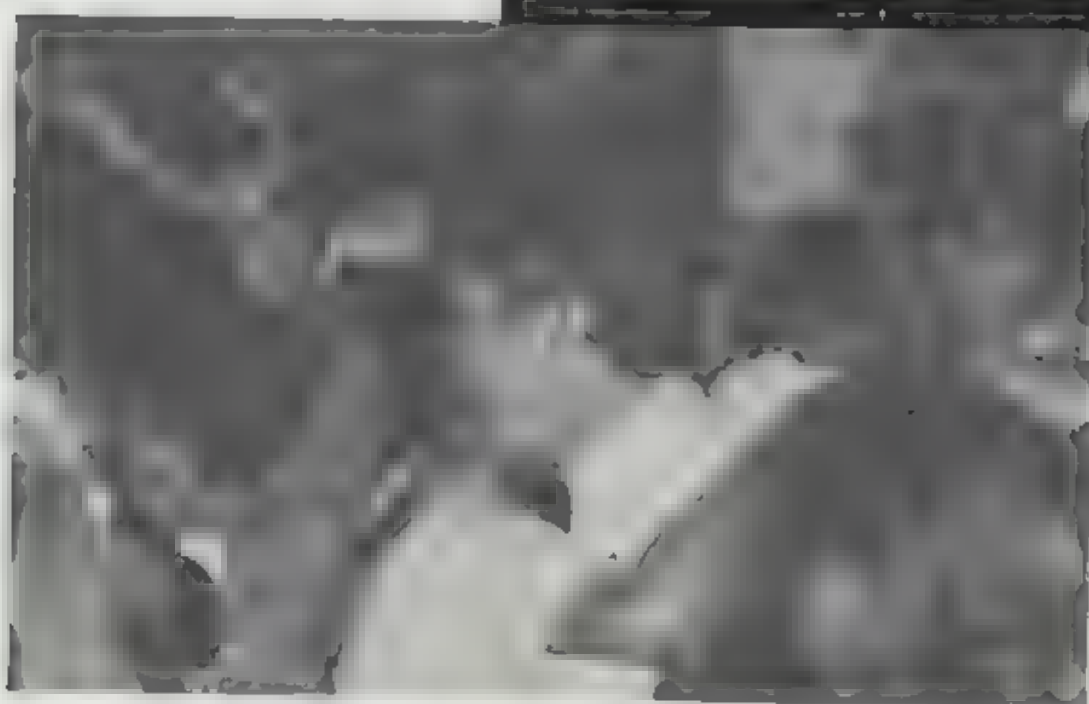

How do you make a place like Platt Hall at Harvey Mudd College a mellow, but romantic four hour experience? With the theme "Snowflakes and Sleigh-bells" it took Interact six hours to create the necessary stars and snowflakes. Next it took 175 starry eyed couples to dance to who else but? -Half Moon.

Interact, whose advisor is Coach Keiser, managed to gather a small but

group whose financial support of the dance will go to charities and the clubs' football programs for next year.

1. Mr. Ede after making a basket.
2. Derek Britton looks anxiously for open player.
3. Mrs. Flaherty having some trouble.
4. Kevin Hillstock mounts his donkey with grace.
5. "Mighty" Ida rides away?
6. "Big Mac" makes her attack.
7. Mr. Labarrere takes a spill.
8. Jerry VanZee catching up with his ass.
9. Struggling for the ball.

With forwards Derek Britton and Gary Iida opposing each other for the third year in a row, the exciting Donkey Basketball game led to yet another student victory. The entire student body voted on selected nominees to form the fortunate student team to ride the donkeys. Faculty members were chosen at random. The lucky students were: Kevin Hillstock, Gordon Descombes, James Hood, Steve Tipping, Patti McDonald, Derek Britton, Jerry Van Zee, Dave Anderson, Tim Dooling, and

Karen Huffman. The lucky (?) faculty were: Madra Flaherty, Shirley Wright, Rich Ede, Mike Slovic, Jack Helber, Fred Chacon, Stuart Gornbein, Joe Labarrere, and Gary Iida. Each player was required to wear a costume, and this year had some really good ones. Mr. Labarrere came dressed as a mummy, Karen Huffman came dressed as a Raggedy Ann, and Mr. Chacon costumed (?) as a Mexican. This year was very popular for cheerleaders: Dooling, Anderson, VanZee, and Hillstock. Different from any other basketball game, the Donkey Basketball game gives one a chance to see one's best (or worst) teacher rolling around on the

'Twas the night before Powder Puff, and all through my dreams

I saw my team winning and ripping their seams.
The t.p. was hung in central quad with care,
In hopes that the cops would not be there.
The players were tackling so strong in their treads,
While visions of touchdowns danced in their heads.
And we in our jerseys and the coaches in class:
The other team better have a good last mass.
When out on the field there rose such a clatter,
I sprang to my position to settle the matter.
Away to the goal post Kelly R. flew like a flash;
Then Jayne E. took the ball and threw with a dash.
The moon on the breast of the new fallen players Gave a luster of sparkle on the sayers.

PARTY-WORD

But what to my disappointed eyes were those good deeders,
But a strange squad of muscle-clad cheerleaders.
With one play to go, I hoped the coaches wouldn't cry;
I knew in a moment it would be a tie.
More rapid than gossip the fourth quarter had come,
So we hugged and shouted, it was only a game.
Now defense! Now offense! Now centers! Now coaches!
On music, on mugs! On party, on hugs!

At 7:00 am on Friday 30 seniors and 57 juniors sat eating breakfast. It all started at about when both teams had the wonderfully rowdy idea to "Deck the Halls" of the school, using colorful touches of t.p. and shaving cream in the place of holly. Later on there was a rally led by a charming (?) group of the foxiest cheerleaders around. There was lots of bets made during the four weeks of practice, but the real test was to come Saturday March 5. There were the juniors and their coaches; Scott Keagans, Robert Villanueva, Dave Bosson, Grant Warhurst and Bill Magnussen. Their captains were Patty McDonald, Jane Ervin, Mary-Ann Obeso, Beth Reisinger and Nancy Phillips. Wasn't that Greg Setlich, Robby Poling, Mark Layne, Dave Anderson, Tim Dooling and Jim Todd for the seniors, and captains Wendy Mishler, Kelly Robertson, Mary Allen, Karen Frampton and Cathy Claussen? The game was very exciting. The big game ended in a 6-6 tie, and what could the teams do but go out and celebrate together.

5:00 AM

What are "Midnight Memories"? Memories of a romantic evening in March, a place like McKenna Hall transformed into a classy setting—all in the colors of a moonlit midnight (the most romantic kind), over 300 young belles to lure their special beaux. To give them something to to, what else but Pax, a band that not only plays brass, but a sloooow one every 3 dances. Now that we know the price tag those beaux bought for Homecoming, how about our lady spenders? We found the average price for this all but average evening was about $55. There's the midnight, but the memories? Those are each one's midnight secret!

"I like it because I get lots of credit", "I learn more about taxes", "I can work more hours", say students enrolled in Work Experience. If you have a job now or have been interested in one, there has probably been some time when you wondered about job applications and interviews, labor laws for minors (most of us), income taxes, (rip offs?), what to do about those B----- complaints, and even proper ways to quit a job (besides spitting in the boss' face). Unlike R.O.P., Work Experience is a C.H.S. course. By

Do you have dreams of being an aircraft mechanic, a dental assistant or a beautician? Or maybe you haven't the slightest idea what you want to do after high school? Wouldn't it be nice to have an expert instructor to teach you professional skills, attitudes and desires to become successful? At Claremont High this can be more than just a dream. In the Regional Opportunity Program, classes are conducted by R.O.P. instructors in all different real life atmospheres. After reaching the required level of competency, students receive certificates of

ACHIEVEMENT

You also receive credits for attendance. Here's another attraction: R.O.P. even provides transportation to the various classes. And, voila, the student has special skills and is ready to win in the job market. Sounds like a gimmick, you say? What's the catch? R.O.P. only costs the student an investment in his future.

Medieval stone castles ruled by Kings and Queens, with court jesters dancing through the halls, was the basic setting for this year's musical, "Once Upon a Mattress." Based on the fairy tale "Princess and the Pea", it was an entertaining and delightful Gina Munson hilariously portrayed Winnifred, with Steve Schick playing Prince Dauntless the Drab and Beth Huffine as his talkative Queen mother. Other memorable characters were Liz Estupinian as Lady Larken, Bob Cooke as Sir Harry, Stan Lawson as King Sextimus, and Tracy Roberts as the Minstrel.

Director Fred Chacon, in his first major musical at C.H.S., held endless rehearsals, aided by Don Brinegar, musical director, and Gary Iida, orchestra conductor.

1. Director Fred Chacon with production assistant Krista Carson and business manager Kyle Fortson.
2. Young romantic leads Liz Estupinian and Bob Cooke.

4. Giving the secret handshake, Tracy Roberts and Ross Ellenhorn.
5. Gina Munson as Princess Winifred climbs out of the moat.
6. Steve Schick listens as his mother, Beth Huffine, gives a word of advice. Claire Getts also played the charming mother.

BLACK OR WHITE

Black or White is where it's at, no matter how far you get.

Look back, Roots is just another thing, but Jesus Christ will always ring.

White is paper, white is the sky,

Sometimes I just wonder why!

Black is now and Black is then,

Black is something that will never end.

Black or white--no matter which one, just so all will overcome.

--Helena Matthews

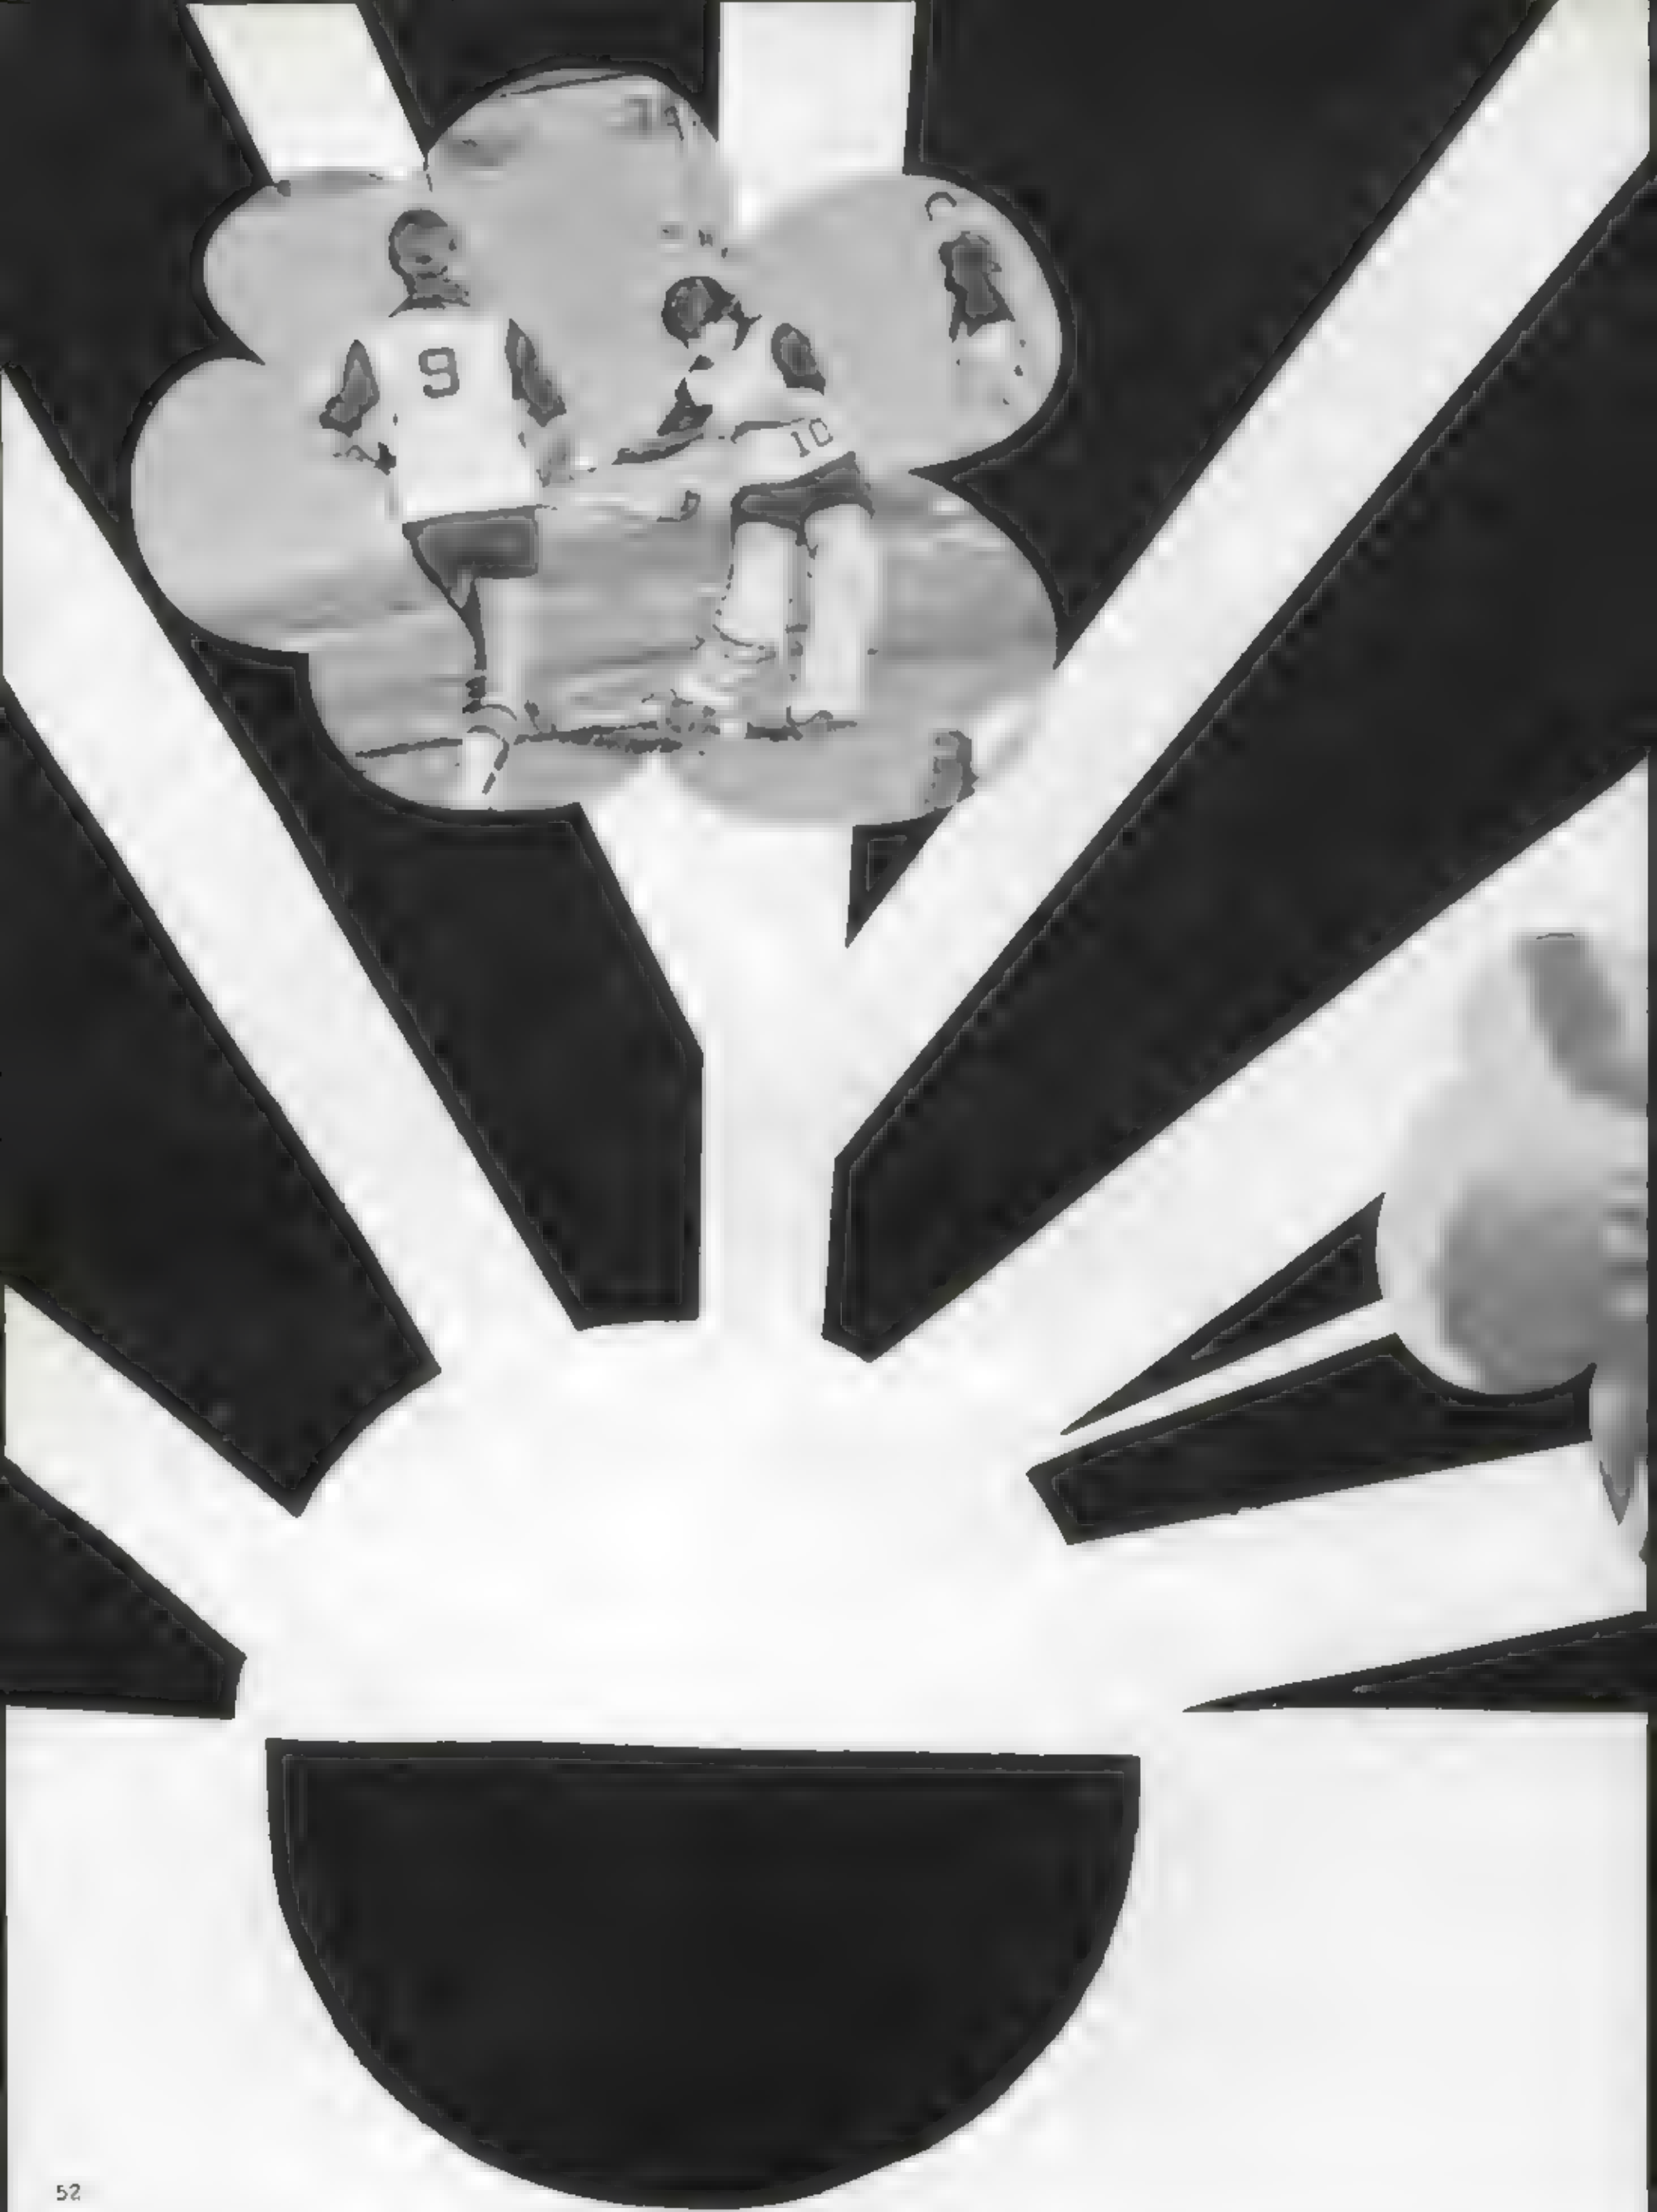

"Men and women make history in broad daylight, but it's impossible for them to know what kind of history until events create a destiny . . ." (L. Bennett, Jr.)

For six days at C.H.S. we were able to get a peek at history in the black culture. What is black history? At C.H.S. it was a collage of poetry, singing, dancing, gymnastics and a look at "success through education" which was this year's theme. Latonya Wyatt (student coordinator) and Mr. Meyer worked together a patchwork of successful black men and women for speakers. Yvonne McIntyre, our own school nurse, Roscoe Fortson, a probation officer, Bill Gary, an independant businessman, Bill Johnson, an employee at a boy's probation camp, Rudy Crew, principal of San Antonio High School, and Louie Robinson, a free

SPORTS

This year's Varsity Football team suffered a rather disappointing season, finishing 2-5 in San Antonio League play, and 2-7 overall. The squad, which had only 12 seniors, went through a rebuilding year with many underclassmen seeing considerable action.

The season began with two

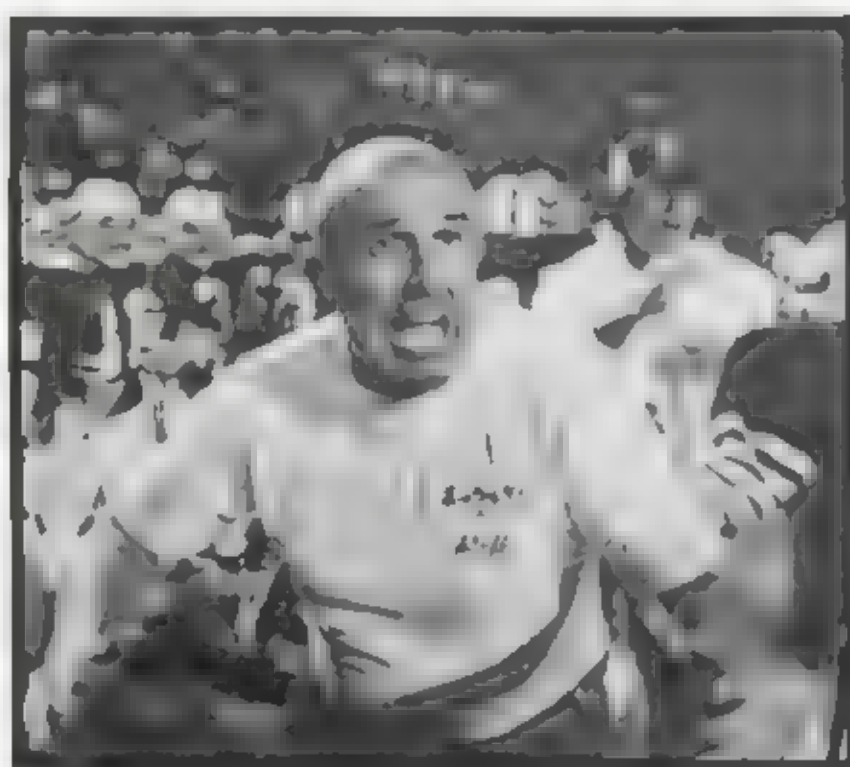

OVERWHELMING

defeats to Bonita and Glendora. League play then opened up against the Chino Cowboys. Former Cowboys Chris Pruitt and Greg Setlich led the 'Pack to their first victory of the year and gave Claremont the confidence they needed to be victorious. The Wolves then faced Ganesha and dropped a close 18-14 decision but ended up on the winning side of a 14-12 victory over Pomona. Following the defeat of Pomona, the Pack lost to Montclair, Garey and Upland. Damien, the S.A.L. League Champion, was the last game for the Wolves. After building up a 21-0 lead, Claremont gave up 28 unanswered points and ended up losing possibly their best game of the season, 28-21.

The team was led by Captains Rob Poling, Robert Villanueva and Dave Anderson. Scott Kegans proved to be valuable both as a defensive back as well as a wide receiver.

The 'Pack will be the team to watch next season as most of the starters will be returning for another year of Claremont football.

McCarthy's last year, more pressure was put on the poloists as they aimed their hopes at a top C.I.F. bid. Finishing second in S.A.L. competition, their next stop was Palm Springs for first round competition against Indio. After four quarters, three of which were ties, when the last shot was fired, Indio edged out on top.

The team was led by Captains John Borland and Marty Jackson. Rounding out the starting team were Chuck Abbott, Jim Gaylord, Jim Moore, John Oliver and goalie Eric Tilgass.

With only three of last year's varsity runners returning and a smaller turnout of hopefuls, Coach Martinez had reason for worry, but by mid-season he saw that he had a team that could possibly win S.A.L. Sophomore star Locke Breaux led the team all season and by the end of the season had the old cross country course record by fourteen seconds. Another sophomore, George Waters, held the #2 spot consistently and ran outstanding for a sophomore. Senior Dennis McCutcheon, team co-captain, added great power to the team this year, and junior Scott Relf was not far behind. Seniors Dave Ramaley, Kevin Cavanaugh (co-captain) and newcomer

Ray Kwiatek held the remaining varsity positions. Finishing second in S.A.L. and going on to C.I.F., this year's men continued the strong tradition of Claremont cross country. Next year's team will definitely be something to watch as there are at least four excellent runners that will return.

a lot and Pat is expected to make the varsity team next year. Steve Elias, a senior, ran very well for the J.V. team, when he wasn't running for the varsity team. Ron Reed, Jack Verheyden and Chris Zivelonghi completed the list for the Junior Varsity team. Ron Reed, a very promising runner, was forced to quit the team because of injury. Frosh-Soph Cross-Country may not have the biggest crowd turnout, but to those runners it's the most important. Leading the Pack this year was Sophomore Chris Johnson who, after league finals, wound up as the sixth Frosh-Soph runner in the S.A.L. championship. Following closely behind was Sophomore Seth Munter, who often shared the number two spot with Freshman Ralph Johnson. Paul Garland, Bill Mabie, Todd Sturgis, Kurt Zivelonghi, Jim Lyon and Danny Reynoso kept the team running. All together they placed third in S.A.L.

This year's Varsity Basketball Team looked excellent going into S.A.L. play. In pre-season play, the Pack posted an outstanding record of nine wins, three losses. In the Azusa Tournament, the team played superbly and won the tournament. Derek Britton was named the "Most Valuable Player" of the tournament, as well as being named to the All-Tournament team. In the Chino Tournament the Pack finished in third place after losing to a tough Mt. Carmel team and then beating Upland for third place honors. Ray Kwaitek made the All-Tournament team in this to moment. The Bonita game which is usually a hotly game, turned out to be a smashing victory for the team. As the season started, though, the team went through a series of tough defeats. A loss to Chino proved to be especially disheartening as the Wolf-pack lost in overtime. The team then met Pomona and posted its first league win. Center Derek Britton proved to be the team's star as he came through with many sparkling performances. Almost all the players got a chance to start this year as Coach Smith tried to find a winning combination. Ray Kwiatek, Derek Ketcham, and Roger Beebower were usually in the backcourt, while Jim Young, Kevin Rullman, Kyle Fortson and Kelly Gordien usually filled in at the forward spots. Look for the Pack next year as much of the team will be returning.

Junior Varsity Basketball this year looked pretty dismal with many of their players going up to the Varsity Squad. As the season progressed, though, Coach Steve Lambert's team started turning in win after win. They posted a 5-2 record in the first half of the season, only losing to Ganesha by alot. In the second half of the season the team met Ganesha again and won! It was a great victory for the team as Ganesha was a very highly touted team. The J.V.'s were lead in each game, by anyone of the five starters. This included scorers Tim Schaefer, Mike Pirolo, and Jeff Smith, tricky passer Doug Tokeshi, and Brian Chilton, who played a dominating role at center position.

The Sophomore Basketball Team was also hindered by the loss of players to the J.V. and Varsity

The CHS Girls' Varsity Basketball team has a great shot at the SAL title, if their winning record continues. The 'Pack team took first place in the Chaffey Tournament, under Glen Miller's coaching, with the final game against Fontana being a

BARN BURNER

Several members of the squad were recognized as being fine players along with M.V.P. of the tournament awarded to Cathy Claussen.

The J.V. squad, coached by Chris Byers, has also done well with their 5-3 season record. These talented underclassmen are hard working and energetic and should be a promising Varsity team next year.

The 1977 Varsity soccer team experienced a different style season than in years past. Instead of sitting in first place all season, this team struggled to get into second place in the San Antonio League standings.

This season marked the retirement of Otto Rieger as head coach. Bill Vaskis returned to Claremont to take over the coaching duties along with assistant Bim Jollymour.

Many of the players on this team had experienced a 3 week summer tour of where the Claremont team was only defeated once. The loss of many stars to graduation did not seem to hamper the Wolves' hopes as they began the 1976-77 campaign.

The season began with the 'Pack knocking off long time arch-rival South Torrance 1-0. This was the first time Claremont had defeated South in 8 years.

For the first time, the Wolfpack Varsity team entered the Damien tournament. The Wolves fought all the way to the championship round, where they were finally defeated by San Gabriel. Pacing the 'Pack efforts were Doug Jollymour, Jerry Van Zee and Sophomore Goalie Steve Tipping.

League play seemed a bit tougher as the 'Pack had to settle for several ties to lesser teams. After playing most of the season with close, low scoring games, the Wolves did erupt for 7-0 thrashing of Montclair.

The boosters were led by Captains Mark Layne and Jim Todd, who was injured halfway through the season. Supplying the scoring punch for the locals were Phil Banks, John Mack and Bill Pitts. Rounding out the starting line up were Dave Anderson, Bob Gutman, Van Zee, Jollymour, Scott Kegans, Jerry Todd, with help from Jason Powers, Jim Bentley, Mike Hammond, Chuck Seeger and Mark Speer. This year's JV soccer team followed in the Claremont tradition of running away with the league championship. The squad ran up big scores and just dominated their opponents. The Javes were once again, to prove Claremont still does have a fine soccer program.

When they weren't playing Varsity, the 'Pack was led by Mike Hammond, Billy Pitts, Jim Bentley and Jason Powers. Also lending a hand in their ever powerful attack were Van Evers, Mike Folden, Mark Estupian, Ken Lindberg, Eric Rothman, Randy Taylor, Larry Ryan and Goalie Alex Pilz. Rounding out the team were Lance Folden, John Baugus, Matt Smith, Bill Bryant and Todd Hart.

Claremont was also able to field a Frosh-Soph team again this season. This marked the arrival of the first female player to CHS. Jessica Miller surprised many as she turned out to be capable. The Frosh-Soph team did not play on the regular schedule as the Varsity and JV teams, because not all the SAL schools could field a Frosh-Soph team. Claremont, however, shone again in this level of the game, building players for next year's Varsity and JV squads.

The Pack field hockey team finished an exciting year with an impressive 8-2 record, only losing two very close games to their league rival, Colton. Finishing a strong second gave them a C.I.F. bid for the third year in a row, this time matched up with top seeded La Habra.

The Pack played its best game, holding La Habra scoreless but luck was not with Claremont as their only goal was not counted, and the Wolfpack went down in defeat 0-0, losing on 25 yard line penetration time.

The Pack's moto was

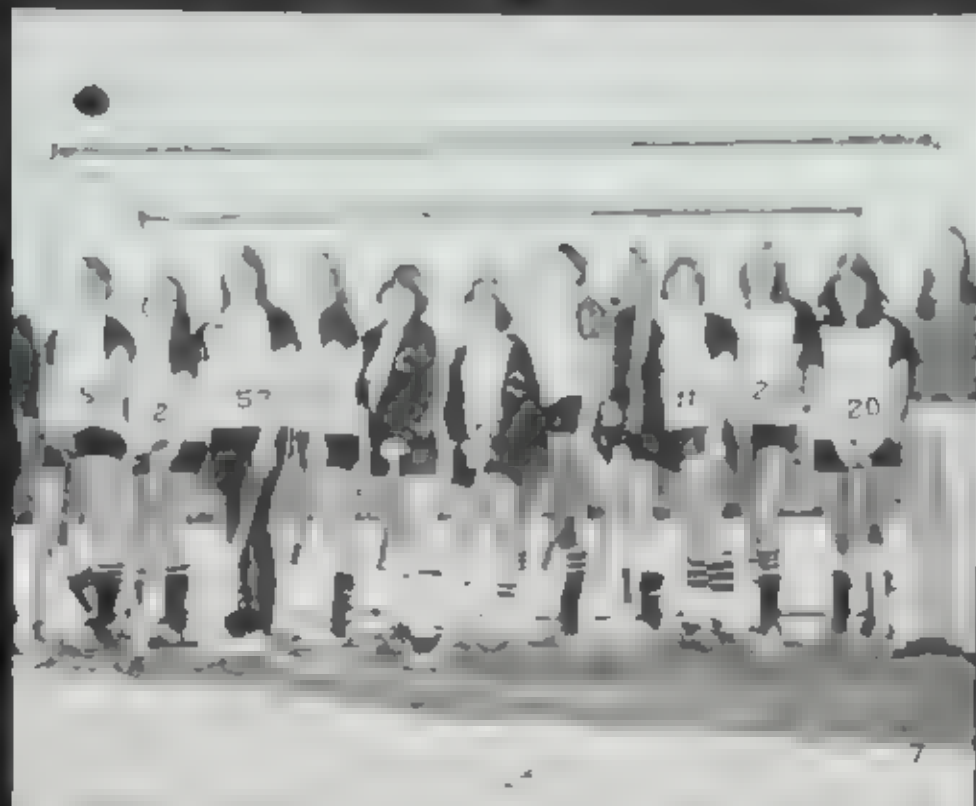

"Be Tough"

and they were. Scoring a total of 40 goals during the season the pack was lead by Janet Strathern with 16, Sue Anne Gatten 9, Liz Zavala 8, Kathy Claussen 2 and Jackie Geary, Mary Allen and Kel Robertson with one each. Defensively the Pack was lead by goalie Anita Natale, fullbacks Jessica Wodinsky and Lalea Brown, halfbacks Laura Woolnough, Mary Allen and Kathy Claussen and versatile player Laura Woolnough. This powerful combination allowed only five goals the entire season.

The J.V.'s finished tied for second with a record of 5-4-1. The team consisting of many new players, played a very tough and skillful season. They were led by Lori Gatten and Janet Cramer, both alumnae of Claremont, who developed the team's talent which led them to their victories.

Although with a slow starting season, the team was able to beat two of the top teams in their league, Colton and Upland. The team's leading scorers were Kelli Carter, Shelly Grant and Karen Martin. The defense was led by goalie Sharon Rampershad, Sweeper Jane Cross, fullback Joanne Belanger and Debbi Mandy. The team was also led by many other outstanding players.

This year's Claremont High School wrestling team fought hard to make up for the loss of eight of last year's senior grapplers. Plagued first by a lack of wrestlers, and then by a series of key injuries, the 'Pack squad was unable to perform as they had in the past. Claremont got more than its share of disabling accidents as team members suffered from broken hands and arms, knees, and other painful injuries. Still, the new coach, Mr. Paine, has been able to mold the group into a team that looks like it has a great deal of promise.

DISCONTINUED

The team suffered from two gaps in their lineup.

Nobody went out for the 98 and 106 pound divisions, and at each match, Claremont had to forfeit 12 points before one of their wrestlers even got onto the mat. At 115 pounds, Keith Davis performed well, but met with difficulties wrestling heavier opponents when he moved up from the 98 pound class. At 123, Captain Tom Brand wrestled with ease until he was put out with an injury. He was replaced by Tal Clayter, who was in turn injured and replaced by Paul Hager. Mark Martin dominated the 130 pound weight class until he was injured and replaced by Phil Elhai. At 136 Captain Kevin Davis did well in his first year of varsity play. A new addition to the team was Reed Jones at 141. Ron Coste wrestled with flair at 147 until he was injured and replaced by Doug Adams. At 154, Bruce Johnson was the team's pride and joy. Bruce was defeated only once in league play, and hopes to place in C.I.F. Paul Steffen ruled the 168 pound class, and was another of Claremont's best wrestlers. Tom Hebl was another of Claremont's best wrestlers. Tom Hebl was another new recruit at 178. While he was new to the sport, his record quickly improved with experience. Sophomore Ben Boice surprised everyone at 191 by his impressive league record. Wildman Jeff Young, a Freshman, is an extremely promising heavyweight wrestler, who knows nothing of pain.

Even though it was a building year, the team did well, and the younger members are quickly gaining the experience they need. Everyone is expecting great things from the team next year.

This year's Boys' Varsity Swim Team posted an impressive win-loss record, swimming through the rest of the San Antonio League undefeated, only to lose to long time rivals Upland by a small margin. The team was led by senior Swimmers Jim Moore, (with All-American hopes), and Mike Martin in the various Freestyle events, followed by impressive performances by Backstrokes Chuck Abbot and Jim Gaylord. Posting exceptional times were Tim Pixley in the long haul distance races; Marty Jackson in the Individual Medley. Also contributing to the winning effort were seniors Ralph Bulaong in Butterfly, and Jim (Stretch) Martin as a Freestyle swimmer.

Rookie Coach John Fisher brought this team to its fine tuned performances using the torture-like technique of 6:00 am morning workouts along with usual afternoon practices.

On a black-clouded day when the temperature seems to be below freezing, and when it's raining so hard you can't see through it there are actually bodies swimming back and forth in a local pool. Some would call them others might say they wouldn't be caught dead out there.

This may be a slight exaggeration, but the members of the girl's swim team have swum on some fairly miserable days. Those are normal conditions for any swim team, but the Claremont girls had more problems than that.

Being a new team this year, they went through ever-present budget problems, difficulty in trying to find pool for workouts, and trouble in finding a coach.

With rookie coach Barry Jean Hamm and assistant coach Chris Martin stressing a real team effort, the team hoped for a high finish in the reorganized San Antonio league.

Leading the way against their opponents were CIF hopefuls Laura Ford swimming competitive Backstroke and Butterfly races; Andrea Wolfe also swimming quick races in the Backstroke; Agnes Lugosi, who proved to be tops in Breaststroke; Chris Evans swimming the All-in-one event, the Individual Medley, and Freestyle; and Liz Honingford with diversified talents in the Freestyle events.

With a new coach at the

this year's golf team will still yet capture another SAL title. The Varsity squad is led by three seniors, Captain Bryan Bowles, Gary Cordry, and John Mack. There are three juniors who will battle it out for the other spots. They are Dan Doyle, Ken Robertson, and a new member, Alan Krause.

The J.V. squad, not as strong as in the past years, will be led by sophomore Mark Burwell. A strong freshman, Alan Ayers will be battling with both J.V. and Varsity members.

With only four Varsity lettermen returning, 1977 appeared to be a rebuilding year for the Wolfpack's tennis squad. However, the openings on the Varsity were more than adequately filled by members of last year's SAL champion JV team, and the Wolfpack enjoyed yet another successful season.

The team looked impressive in pre-season play, posting a 7-1 record, including wins over strong La Puente and Riverside Poly teams.

Coach Jerry Morgan feels that the Wolfpack's major competition in league play will come from Upland again this year. Still, led by returning Varsity players Henry Welsh, Mark Alba, Steve Norin and Ken Lindberg, the 'Pack hopes to capture yet another SAL crown. Rounding out the Varsity squad are Steve Bonilla, Greg Betts, Jeff Gamer, Mike Leos, Pao Lie, George Morgan, Randy Mason, Dick Shimizu, Barbara Young and Dan Wang.

Claremont's JV team was also quite strong this year, also posting a 7-1 pre-season record. The team followed the Claremont tradition of being a very solid bunch of players. Many of the players could play Varsity on some of the other teams in the League, but as Claremont's Varsity is so they have to settle for the J.V. team. Look for these players in the next few years to be the team's future stars.

Members of the team include John Bonilla, Brian Boyle, Peter Jack, Kelvin Lee, Matt Richardson, Scott Scroiner, Karl Stevenson, Mark Sturgis, Jay Winkenbach and Phil Wooton.

The Wolfpack Girls Tennis Team enjoyed another extremely season this year. They finished undefeated in San Antonio League play. Rated among the top ten teams in Southern California all year long, the girls proved again that Claremont tennis is something to watch.

SUCCESSFUL

This year's varsity squad was lead by Seniors Cathy Claussen (captain), Connie Elwell and Kathy Brant, as well as Sophomore Karen Claussen. All four of these girls finished S.A.L.

competition without a single loss. Rounding out the team were five more very strong players: Carin Christian, Pam Papa, Colleen Christian, Robin Su and Diane O'Brien.

Madra Flaherty coached the squad, which won S.A.L. without a loss. They easily beat arch-rival Upland twice.

The J.V.'s were also undefeated S.A.L. Champs. Members of this squad included Kathy O'Toole, Heidi Laird, Allison Giles, Kim Williams, Diann Jackson, Liz Ratinoff, Karen Toomay and Laura Hancey.

The year 1977 might be remembered around the Claremont locker room as the year Jack Helber took over the baseball program. From the beginning, Coach Helber showed great interest in improving the CHS baseball program, not only on the field, but also off. To generate additional fan interest at games, Helber installed a public address system, arranged to have an organist play, recruited a couple of bat girls and scheduled two home games.

But none the less, winning contests on the field was still foremost in Helber's mind. And after their first few league encounters, it was apparent that with their best effort, the 'Pack would be at or near the top of the final S.A.L. standings. Claremont took third place in the Chaffey Tournament, thanks mainly to strong pitching.

Leonard Peacock was set to lead the Wolfpack mound corps, with Dan Brehaut and Chris Pruitt and Junior Kenny Haerr rounding out the staff.

Behind the plate Mark Layne was scheduled to see most of the action, being backed up by his younger brother Danny, a Sophomore.

Junior Elias Contreras suffered a broken ankle in practice before the season opened, probably forcing him to spend most or all of the year as a spectator.

First baseman Dick Bell, coming off a season in which he was on the All-SAL second team, was being counted upon to contribute heavily to Claremont's offense from the number three spot in the batting order. Jack Dunaway, a Junior second baseman, earned the leadoff position because of his ability to make consistent contact. Mike Peterson

In the outfield, centerfielder Paul Sokolowski returned for this third year at the varsity level. Sokolowski was to be flanked by Brian Zell in left and either Jim Todd or Sophomore Matt Jahant in right

The Claremont High School Junior Varsity Baseball Team showed early that they were a strong team, capable of beating their opponents with their hitting or pitching, or both. Coach Jerry Flora up from the Freshman level to the J.V. level in 1977. Many of this year's team figure to do well at the varsity level next year.

Two sophomore pitchers, James Hood and Derek Ketchum, have done very well and are almost assured of spots on next year's varsity.

Out fielders Larry Ryan and Jeff Smith head a list of good hitters. Others are Rusty Harrison, Bill Hanyon, and Jerry Todd. Todd will probably move into next year's varsity team as the starting shortstop.

Besides providing talent for future varsity squads, Coach Flora will have had a more immediate goal. Trying to win the league championship. It is a goal that definitely seemed in reach with the talent of this team.

The Freshman 9 were coached by Cliff Hoover and should supply more talent to the Claremont baseball program.

This year's Varsity Track team looked excellent in pre-season meets. Claremont smashed Azusa and Glendora in preseason contributing to these successful victories were Derek Britton, Locke Breauz, George Waters, Scott Kegans and Al Cantani. Derek looks to be a C.I.F. contender in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, and the shot put. Scott Kegans just started long jumping this year, and he looks to be one of the best in the league. Two newcomers, Bill Erb and Al Cantani are going to help the team alot. Erb specializes in the low hurdles while Cantani is a very fast 440 yard dash runner. In the longer distances Locke Breauz and George Waters, both sophomores, are two of the best mile and two milers in the league. Rounding out the team are pole vaulters Steve Spurlock, and Chris Keaster, high hurdler Doug Maxwell and star Kelly Gordien, who has a good shot at becoming the C.I.F. high jump champion. Looking into the future, Claremont looks to be a top-notch team next year with almost all the team members returning.

1. Steve Spurlock easily makes the height.
2. Dave Anderson showing the agony of running an 800.

7. Coach Stu Gornbein watches the race develop.

The 1977 Frosh-Soph team did not have a of talented members but did have some outstanding individuals. Kevin Britton was outstanding in the 100 and 200 yard dashes. In the Foothill Invitational, Kevin won the Sophomore 100 yard dash with an outstanding time. Jason Powers is a good high jumper and long jumper. Chris Johnson in the mile and two mile, Tracy Crow in the sprints, and Russell Peterson in the middle distances round out the team.

The main talent of this year's team centers on the distance runners Martha Brownlee and Susan Atencio, the mile and two milers along with Cherry Henry in the 880. In field events, there are Kristin Sorrensen in the high jump and long jump and Martha Brownlee in the high jump.

This year, different from the rest of the years, there were seven league teams in the girl's division and all their meets were scheduled along with the guys. The Claremont team is known for its annual Claremont Invitational, which is the largest high school invitational in California, with approximately 60 schools present. Schools from as far as the San Francisco Bay Area attend it. This year, they were also the hosts of the C.I.F. prelims.

This year's Volleyball team started off the season on the wrong foot by losing their first pre-season game, but quickly changed feet and ended up a second place title in league play, with a 5-2 record. Laura Meyers and Kelly Robertson were named All League players.

The team, led by Co-Captains Kelly Robertson and Mary Allen, then went on to the first round of C.I.F., losing to Charter Oak, who had a record of 14-0 in their league play, with scores of 15-2, 15-5, but overall, the team played well.

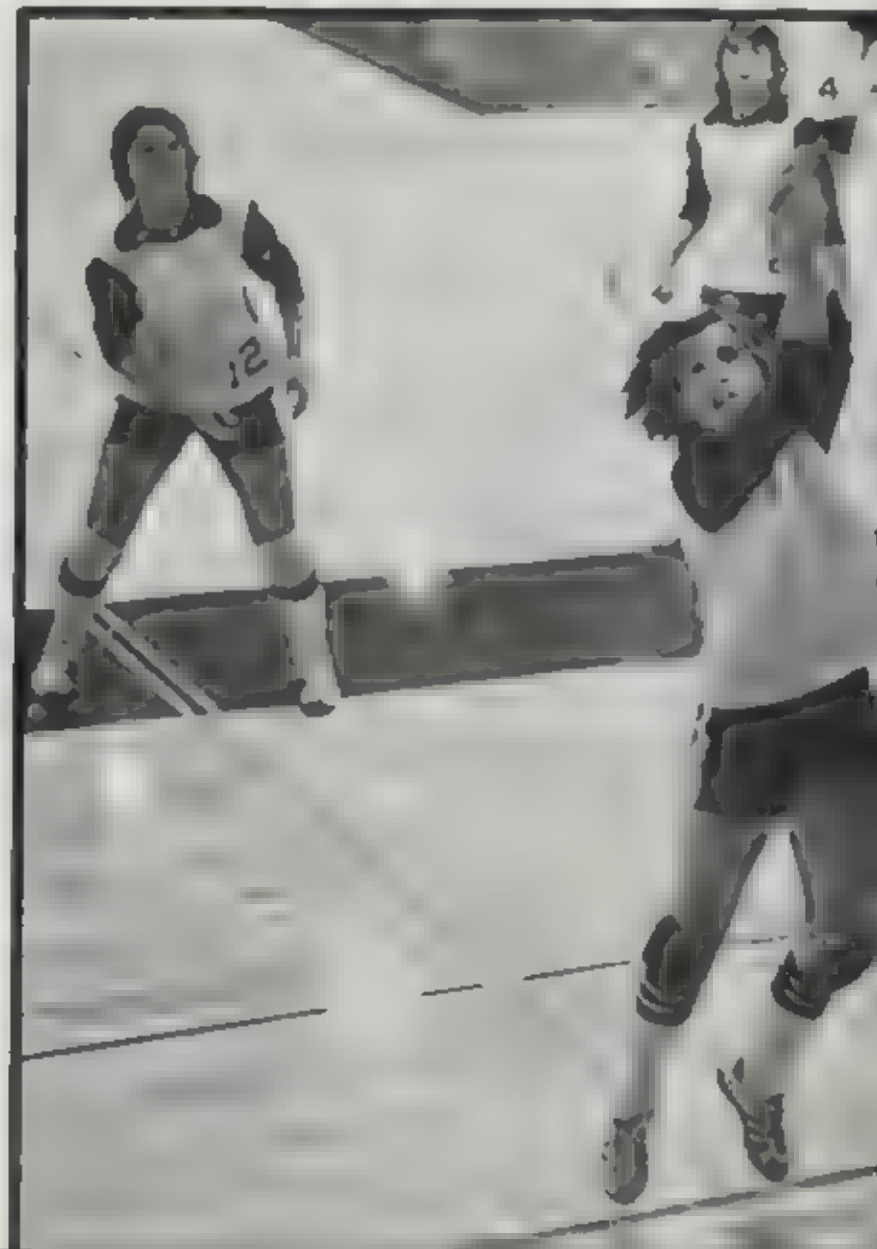

The 1976 Varsity Volleyball team consisted of Seniors Mary Allen, Abby Clark, Kelly Robertson, Kathy Shacklett; Juniors Lalea Brown, d group of players.

Among the returnees are Anita Natale playing the Claussen also will contribute to a SAL title.

Kelly Robertson and Laura Meyers, who last year were named to the all SAL team, are returning to make Claremont even stronger.

player Janet Cramer, coaches this group of hard-working and determined players.

started with World War II as a conditioner for servicemen? Well, that's probably not exactly what Mrs. Manley, our gymnastics coach, has in mind for her team, but gymnastics has fit into the American way; it fosters creativity, confidence, and self reliance.

Who were CHS's Nadies and Olgas? Hurtling down the mats and over vaults were Teri Cohn, Donna Meyers and Helen Vignoli. And balancing on those thin raised boards were Tricia Thomas and Pam Kinsey. Those monkeys spinning on the bars? Oh, they were Chris Borrelli, Beth Reisinger, and Judi Underhill. The showoffs competing in all events were Karen Johnson, Jill Magee and Nancy Phillips. The team worked out two hours each day---to train hard is to win easily!

June, 1977 rolled 'round and the seniors graduated with high hopes of successful

Tim Dooling, senior president, led the class, along with Vanessa Dorst-Vice-President, Diane Stephenson-Secretary/Treasurer, Liz Estupinian-Senior class Commissioner, and Colleen Christian, Karen Huffman, Ann Robertson, and Mary Tracey-Class Councilmen.

First on the agenda, the senior class put on a spaghetti dinner. This was a successful money raiser, and everyone got their fill.

In October, the senior class sponsored a costume Halloween dance, and everyone wearing a costume received a discount at the door. Inhibitions were set loose as everyone played out his or her wildest fantasies. Have you ever seen Count Dracula boogie to the tunes of Zedekiah?

In March the traditional Powder Puff football game was organized by the senior class officers. When the vicious battle had been fought, seniors had to settle for a tie.

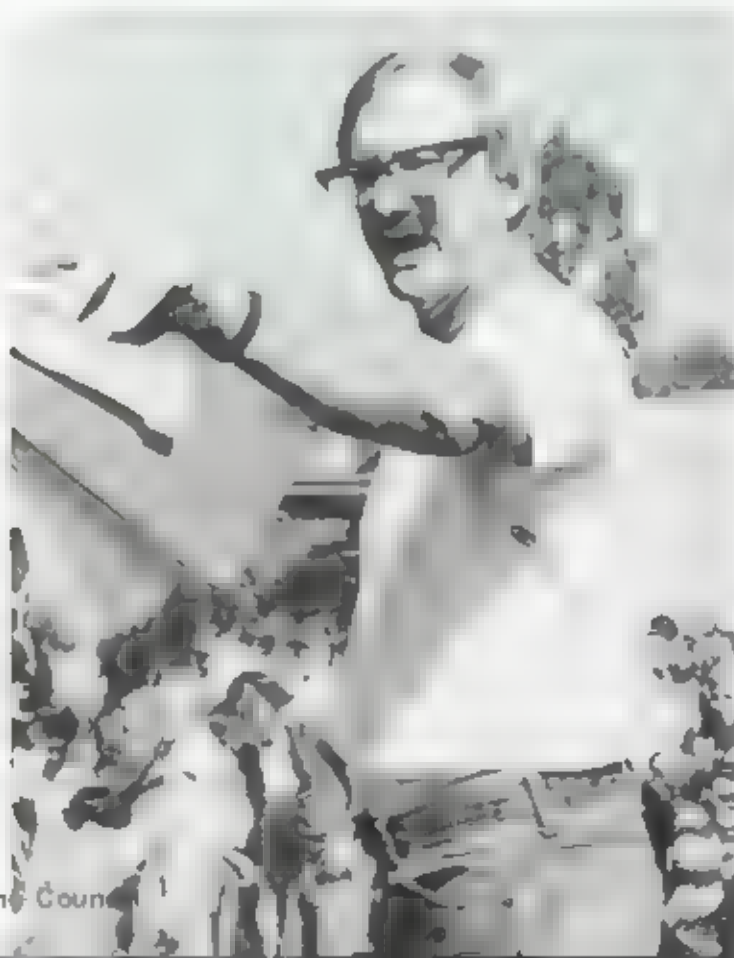

Despite the water shortage, the senior-class put on a car wash April 16.

To wind the senior year to a close, the traditional party had a secret location and was a real success. This year's party was organized by Mrs. Robert Shacklett, along with the able help of Mrs. Bill Anderson.

If you've ever wondered who it is who goes to all the trouble of finding and hiring the bands for all those ASB sponsored after-game dances, or who plans and organizes Homecoming Week--including the parade and dance--or who plans the all-school rallies--wonder no more. It's the Co-ordinating Council. To the average on the CHS campus, the Co-ordinating Council could very well be the most important group on campus. Not only do we depend on the Council for entertainment, but they allot money to various clubs and organizations that allows them to function.

Under the ever watchful eye of the new Dean of Activities, Mike Slovik, the Council tries to run the affairs of the ASB. They have a fun time doing it, too, especially when they're meeting at Sid's house. With only a dozen members, the Council puts in more work than most students realize, and it is this work that goes towards making CHS unique.

1. One of the many unique Girls League activities, Mark Estupinian prepares to take another Santa picture.
2. Warming up for a half-time performance, the Marching Band plays a rousing chorus of "Beer, Beer" to the Citrus Stadium crowd.
3. Carol Stickles, Lisa Metzler, and Cynthia Betts, resort to looney antics in order to stay awake during the Vocal Music Department's annual Talent-a-Thon.
4. Letterettes, Majorettes, Marching Band, and Drill Team come together for a dazzling Half-time show.
5. The club that wasn't—the infamous Buzzards Club begins its short life on Club Day.

Do you feel lonely on Friday and Saturday nights? Are you longing to belong? There's absolutely no-o-o-o-o reason to feel this way at CHS--even if you are homely, ignorant, and undesirable. There's a Prince or Princess Charming in each of us, and the clubs of CHS bring these qualities to the surface.

Starting off the first semester is Club Day, the pep rally for the various organizations. The Central Quad resembles a busy bee-hive. Students around the booths like Yogi Bear around picnic baskets. They put their John Hancocks on membership lists, in hopes of future activities with their new comrades.

During the long school year, clubs sponsor many activities. They hold fund-raising events in never-ending efforts to finance their various functions and outings to new and exciting places. The strong student involvement and participation this year has brought foreign countries, mountains, snow, creativity, and people closer.

The Wolfpacket covers all school events, from sports to concerts, plays, music, debates, graffiti and student government squabbles, to dances, nostalgic teachers, aspiring poets, problemed students, and some of the so-called hot

GO!!!

This year's Wolfpacket had two editors: Carol Culbertson, who moved away to Michigan at the end of the first semester, and Amy Gusman, who ran uncontested for the position when Carol left. For the first semester, the hard-working staff took on a new job: an insert in the Claremont Courier called Pack Tracks. This section of the Courier informed parents about new teachers at CHS, sporting events, all about dances, and various groups on campus. This year's staff consisted of members picked by the editors and members of the newspaper class. They put in a lot of time and effort to produce many interesting, entertaining issues of the Wolfpacket.

What has over ninety members, high academic standards, gold and life memberships?

The answer, of course, is the Claremont Chapter of the California Scholarship Federation, or commonly known as CSF. Led by President Melissa Beck, Vice-President Karen Lott, Secretary/Treasurer Laura Shiroma, and Historian Kent Swanson, CSF distributes scholarship information to it's senior members, and holds a breakfast to honor those who received life memberships. They also offer a tutoring service for the other students at CHS. The advisor as in past years is once again the faithful Robert McGill.

Halloween parties, picnics in the park, bake sales, plant sales, selling AFS Christmas cards, and meeting scores of people from all over the world are only a part of being a member of the Claremont Chapter of the American Field Service.

This year's AFS Club has been especially busy. Besides all the above activities, the AFS Club had the privilege of playing host to this year's exchange students, Janet Strathern of South Africa and Coen Jager of the Netherlands.

studying, and learning the Portuguese language in Brazil. Other students awaited placement in other countries. Their advisor, is Jean Bayne.

The main purpose of the Student Assembly is to and pass legislation concerning CHS and its students. Specifically, the Assembly approves the appropriations to various activities and organizations on campus; they form committees to aid student government.

INSTEAD

The Student Assembly is headed by Chairman Dan Richardson, and consists of five class representatives and ten representatives at-large.

1. Student Assembly.
2. President's Council.
3. Student Review Board.
4. Principal's Advisory Board.

To be a member of the President's Council one must first be the president or representative of a class or any organization on campus. This group met only when necessary--to plan inter-club activities, to discuss how each group's activities affect with all the others this year; but involvement from all clubs is hoped for in the future.

Seven unbiased representative students compose the Student Review Board. This group is responsible for interpreting the existing codes and constitutions of the school and to judge the violators of these codes. These students arrange and hold all school ASB elections during the year. Without the SRB, juvenile at Claremont High just might have been on the rampage.

Last year, with the coming of a new principal to CHS, came a new organization, the Principal's Advisory Board. In initiating this organization, Mr. Mann hoped to gain into special problems and needs of Claremont High's students.

This year, the Board is still going strong. Mr. Mann holds casual, relaxed meetings in his office to discuss the problems of the school. The most important facet of the Board is that it gives the students representing a cross-section of the groups on campus a chance to voice their opinions and ideas.

The German Club this year could almost be called an entirely new club at CHS. Everything about the club was this year. There was a new constitution, new members, new activities and a purpose to the club. Anyone interested in anything German could be a member of this club. Oktoberfests, films, retreats, and holding elections were included in their activities.

The French students on campus have formed a very enthusiastic club, this year, their purpose being to learn the true French culture. Throughout the semesters, they aim to gain more knowledge on the customs, cuisine-very and language of France. In order to fulfill their objectives, the French Club journeyed to the ritzy and plush restaurants of Los Angeles and Beverly Hills to sample the cuisine of France. They also took a field trip to view a French film entitled "Small Change."

In bringing the French culture closer to home, the club hosted a French Cafe in Central Quad, spotlighting tasty sweets and pastries. This year it was their duty to sponsor the annual International Dessert Night. Members will tell you that it is mostly a group oriented club, but that special credit should be given to Madame Kearny who was born and raised in France, and who serves as their advisor.

Por favor, quieres comprar un "Starburst"?

Mexico's their destination and the Spanish Club has gone to a lot of to raise money to get there. Under the direction of Advisor Señor Brown and the able leadership of President Sally Shannon, the group travels to Mexico every Easter for linguistic and cultural enlightenment.

There's a Robert Redford or a Barbra Streisand hiding in every one of us and our own troupe of the International Thespian Society is trying to uncover them right here at CHS. It co-sponsored the annual CHS talent show, Cabaret Nite, to which various singers, dancers, and other performers flocked with the ever-lasting hope of being discovered. The Thespians also put on their own production, "You Can't Take it With You" in the spring with auditions open to the entire school. Acting isn't everything behind Thespians, though. There are the behind-the-scenes people, too. Who designed and built the sets? Who did the lighting designs, and who coordinated the sound for all the programs done at the CHS theatre this year? Who dug up the costumes and helped plaster on all that pancake make-up? You can put your money on it-- there was a Thespian involved.

Under the supervision of Fred Chacon and the leadership of President David Fissel, Vice President Jessica Wodinsky, and Secretary Ruth Spanier, the Thespians ran the concessions at most dances and at some sports events. They held their annual Christmas dinner and party, and the Drama Awards Banquet in the spring.

Aspiring young Brownings, Cummings, McKuens and accomplished writers in general expand their imaginations as members of the Literary Guild.

The members meet as a group of people with myriads of things in common. Namely, these include interest in writing for pleasure and lots of fresh talent. The casual but polished Ms. Rosemary Adam stimulates and encourages the members as their advisor. Once in a while, there is a proud sense of "being on the right road" when one of the flock achieves a publication. This is certainly a rightful kind of pride. Literary Guild is a hard-working, determined club that knows what's going on (and how to express it well!)

CREATIVITY

"J-J-J-U-N, I-I-I-O-R" soared above the crowds at all of those exciting CHS rallies. There, filling rows and rows of bleacher seats, were the daring, young ladies of the Junior Class. A club just introduced to our school this year, this organization of sophisticated ladies taught us all the true meaning of the word "fun".

JUNIOR LADIES

The club was designed to unite the ladies of the class of '78 in a spirit of rowdiness and highflyin' fun. It also equips the sophomore girls of this year with an added incentive to become one of those prestigious upper class women. The Junior Ladies played an important part in promoting spirit at the rallies and activities. They enjoyed playing football, especially in the rough Powder Puff game against the tough Senior Women. President Carol Culbertson, Vice President Kathleen Farley, Secretary Cindy Adam, Treasurer Kim Crieghton and a bunch of spirited Ladies proved that the class of '78 is alive, noisy, and well.

If you noticed a lot of girls wearing bright red tee-shirts on campus this year, what you were probably seeing was a member of the Senior Women's Club. As the name implies, it is open only to girls of senior

STATUS

The chairmen of the Senior Women; Sharon Brown, Shannon Piette, Jane Pinney and Janet Stark, organized many enjoyable activities for the Senior Women this year. They planned a rowdy retreat to Palm Springs, barbecues, and beach trips.

The witty Senior Women gave the entire student body many humorous moments at rallies this year with their spirit promoting skits, slogans, and never-ending competition with the Junior Ladies. Most important, however, the Senior Women helped spread school spirit and class pride among themselves and the whole school.

With a good year's experience behind them, they participated in the annual Powder Puff football game in a competitive struggle against the juniors.

Future doctors, anthropologists, biologists and many other such aspiring students gathered to make up this year's Science Club. Although the club was open for membership to any C.H.S. student, it consisted mostly of those students in science classes. This club was important because it enabled exploration of careers in the science field for those interested. Throughout the year, several field trips were taken to hospitals, colleges, and other places related to the wide and field of science.

The club's main activity of the year was sponsorship of the annual Science Fair. Students in the advanced science courses were required to enter a project, which made the Fair quite a large undertaking. You can bet that with the leadership of Pres. Brian Boyle, V.P. Kent Swanson, Sec. Richard Shimizu, and a new advisor, Robert Walker, the science fair was a success.

DIVERSE

An argument is always innocent till proven guilty in a debate. With this in mind, Claremont's Speech and Debate Club argued their way through another year. It may seem that all one has to do in a debate is find some unimportant topic, argue on it a little while, maybe get and adjourn until next week. No sir, that's not the way it's done. The Speech and Debate Club, which is also a class, was, in fact, geared toward state and national tournaments. In every debate both sides of the argument must be thoroughly investigated and documented. So, you will see people with large files to support their arguments. Besides this there are several kinds of speeches to make, such as impromptu speaking (you have only five minutes to prepare), humorous interpretation, dramatic interpretation, extemporaneous, original oratory, and expository.

Claremont High did not qualify to go to the state tournament, but as President Luis Rocha put it, "We were better than most but not as good as some." He added, "You may bomb out the first few times, but try, try, again."

Zonta, even though it sounds like the name of a sci-fi is actually the sponsoring club of Claremont's Z-club, an organization for girls, serving the school and the community. The reduced size of this year's Z-club didn't stop the members from working just as hard or harder than last year's group. They worked at the Claremont Crippled Children's Society, held a Christmas party for pre-school children at Vista School, raised money to send to Colombia, and helped sponsor a dance.

Attention, nature lovers! All you future Sierra Club members should check out this club. It's the Mountaineering Club. Even though it wasn't new this year, it certainly was more active since the advisor Wally Vaskis returned from a year's sabbatical.

We see the mountains every day (if it's not too smoggy), but how many of us feel like strapping on a knapsack and lacing up some sturdy hiking boots and taking off into the hills for a few days and nights? You can bet that the members of the Mountaineering Club do. These would-be Daniel Boones have gone on several excursions this year. They've left the alleged comforts of civilization behind to leave their all over Yosemite, Big Pine Lakes in the Sierra Nevadas, and Twin Forks near Ventura. The one requirement for joining this club is having some claim, no matter how small, to gourmet cooking--no beef jerky for these people!

It was too bad for the Claremont High School Ski Club that Mammoth Mountain wasn't closer to Buffalo this year. Lack of snow in California made ski club members every time they heard reports of another ten feet of snow dumped on the Eastern states. The Ski Club was forced to haul out its rock skis when it finally hit the slopes for the first time--after its first trip had been cancelled. Even without a great deal of snow, ski club members whiled away the hours in their cabins, playing cards, watching television, eating bad food, and thinking snow.

As the name implies, Girls League is a club for girls, but since Title IX legislation outlawing discrimination in education came into effect, the league envisioned some troubles. Can you picture a Queen Grub being crowned next to King Grub at the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance? Or a Girl of the Month named John? Fortunately, none of these potential problems have become serious.

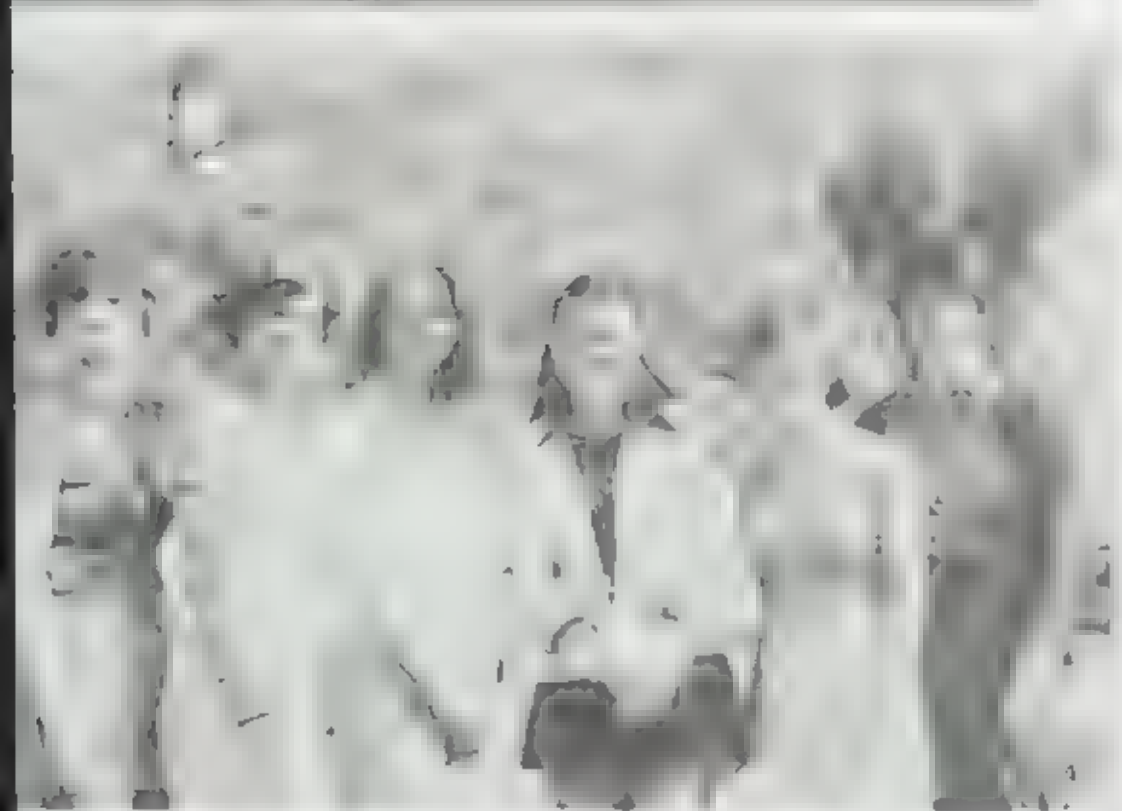

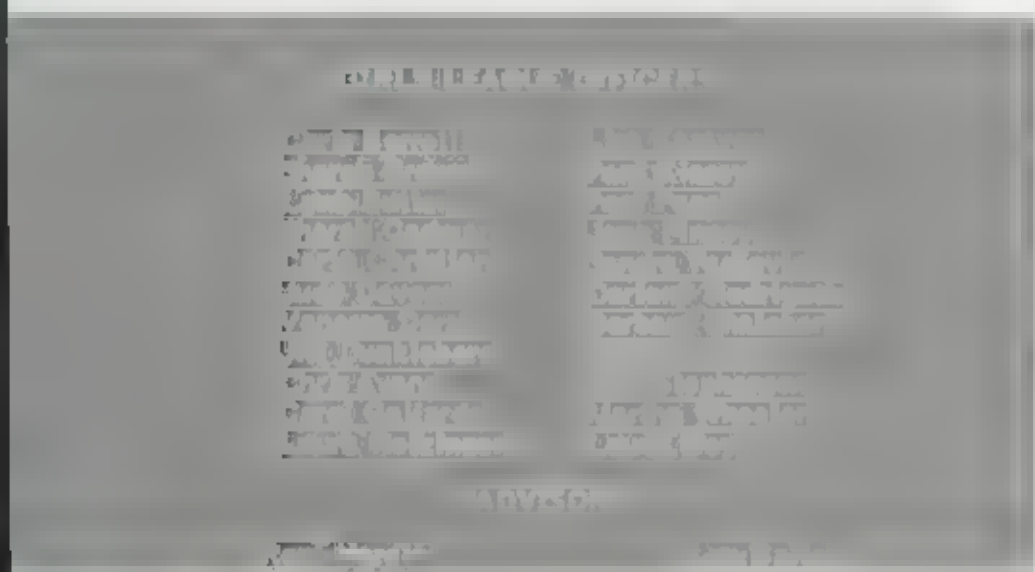

At this year's Sadie Hawkins Dance, inspired by the theme of "Kissin' Cousins," the League raised a giant couple holding hands above the band. The group also organized the week preceding the Sadie, which included a tug o' war, gunny sack races, and plenty of

and hollerin'. The lady leaguers sponsored many other activities as well. A Girl of the Month was chosen and awarded to an outstanding female student. The club donated several turkeys to needy families for Thanksgiving. A new activity this year was a car rally in April, leading participants on a mad chase all over the valley.

Perhaps the greatest project was planning the Girls League Formal, held at McKenna Hall at the local colleges on March 12.

If you aren't a member of a service club and are interested in joining one, you missed one of the best this year--the Key Club. This year, the size of the Key Club more than

and the new faces provided this club with some of the most exciting and rowdy times it has had in a long time. Key Club does more than have a good time, though. Being a service club, the members strive to serve the community and the school. Among other things, they helped out at the Sadie Hawkins Dance, they painted the locker rooms, and co-sponsored a dance in January. Representing a large cross section of the CHS student body, the Key Club manages to involve almost everyone in their activities.

Sponsored by the Claremont Chapter of Rotary International, the Interact Club is a very active service organization. Each year they perform many useful tasks in the community.

This year their accomplishments included their traditional duties of selling football programs and planning, preparing and presenting, the Holiday Formal. This year the theme was "Snowflakes and Sleighbells." The dance was held at Platt Hall and was a time of making merriment for all who attended. Interact also helped finance the purchasing of six trees to landscape the lawn by the parking lot.

Led for the first time ever by a female president, the concerned students in this club are what enable it to be such a success. The very competent Sherry Benzon served as President, Laura Holzinger was Vice-President.

The amazing thing about Claremont High School is the amount of talent that is uncovered each year. This school year has been no exception. The Vocal Music Department has sought out and more gifted musicians this year than in any preceding year. After very few outlooks on life in general, one conclusion is obvious--people love music. And whether it's sixteenth century baroque that stirs you or today's popular hot charts, Claremont High and Donald Brinegar have a choir to satisfy you.

Aeolian Choir is a group for those who like to sing, but are too stricken with panic at the thought of auditioning for a position in a higher choir. It's a great way to get started, though, and proves to be very much fun.

Concert Choir is the largest group which sings at the school. The only requirement is a love for singing. Each year this choir participates in producing the Holiday Record and joins in the annual trip to Disneyland. These are two most enjoyable and rewarding experiences.

Chamber Chorale is a more highly auditioned group. Most people who are enrolled in this class have previously been in one of the other two choirs. Chamber Chorale takes part in various public singing appearances throughout the year. These include Christmas programs, festivals, and the music department's Christmas and Spring Concerts. It also records several selections on the Christmas record and joins in the big Christmas celebration at Disneyland. The officer this year are: President and student director Robert Elhai, who is also the accompanist whenever Mr. Brinegar calls, Vice-President, Lisa Daniel, and Secretary Christy Wessel.

The Chamber Singers are the smallest in number and the most select of all the vocal music performers. This group is extremely active with concerts and festivals each month. But the holiday season is usually the most hectic one. This year they concluded their Christmas concerts with a grand total of over forty performances for different clubs, hospitals, and private parties in the area. Along with the other groups, they produce the holiday record, this year entitled "Winter Solstice", featuring songs from around the world. They helped in a effort with all the singers in the department in putting on successful Christmas and Spring concerts. Much talent and hard work spiced by the antics of the Rowdy Altos, make the Chamber Singers sound one of utter Claremont Class. The President is Sally Girvin (alias Misty Roe), Business Manager is Ed Bratt, Secretary is Raquel Jacinto, and Bob Cooke is the vigorous rhythmical student director.

1. The band takes time out in the grandstands.
2. The Claremont High School Marching Band.
3. Another morning of marching and music on the football field.
4. Tootin' the time away.
5. First place in the West Covina Half-time competition.

During football season people living in the vicinity of Claremont High School don't need to set their morning alarms—they have an automatic one—the Claremont High School Marching Band. This energetic group of students can be found blowing their horns and banging their drums in well practiced formation down on the football field.

Known as the "Class of the San Antonio League" because of their numerous successes in halftime competitions and parades, the Band does more than perform at half-time and rallies. Their more unusual activities include providing entertainment at a pancake breakfast, and getting a welcoming committee at 2:00 am at Ontario Airport for a friend. Gary Iida, their beloved director, is the victim of many of the Band members' antics. He receives prank phone calls at 4:00 am., chocolate chip cookies seasoned with garlic, and

in his pipe. His car has been temporarily stolen, his room keys have disappeared for several modules, and his office has been filled to the ceiling with crumpled newspaper.

The Band works hard in everything they do. They have been working very hard in order to raise money for new uniforms. They've done various fund raising projects like selling jewelry and stationery. They helped build a prize-winning float at the Rose Parade, and were on television in the Santa Ana Parade. A more industrious and devoted group of students would be hard to find.

The Band Auxilliary Unit works very hard to promote spirit around campus and at many school sports events. They perform with the Marching Band during shows and have entered competitions in which they have placed very highly.

5. Majorettes ready to spin.
6. Captain Jennifer Elder, Captain Peggy Colner, and Sherri Winston taking time out to flash a smile at the camera.
7. Tall and proud.

This year's Band Auxiliary Unit took on a new image. Mrs. Allen, their new advisor, promptly combined the Drill Team, Tall Flags, Letterettes, and Majorettes, into one group which goes by the name of Band Auxiliary Unit. Tall flags grew from eight to fourteen members this year. Majorettes, a team of six baton twirlers, and the High Kick Team were established. The girls also got new uniforms to color co-ordinate with the Band. Mrs. Allen also decided to incorporate more dance steps into their routines.

Being a member of this group requires lots of

and a love of performance. Members must complete an application form and go through tryouts. A high GPA must be maintained throughout the year. Practices take up a lot of time, too. The Band Auxiliary Unit practiced every day after school during football season with the Band and once a week after school for three or four hours, regardless of weather conditions.

Rally Squad has worked very hard this year to create a feeling of enthusiasm at school sports events and on campus. The Songleaders won the spirit stick at camp last summer and the Flag Twirlers were in several competitions throughout the year. The Mascot and the Pep Commissioner helped spirit by organizing skits and games at rallies and painting signs for various events.

ACADEMICS

For those who freeze up at the sight of a numeral, the Math Department opened up a math study center. It was designed for quiet study and individual help, as there is always a teacher on hand seven periods a day. The department developed confidence after learning that this year the seniors scored in the Photosynthesis, tracheophytes, chlorophyll, lab books, microscopes, carbon dioxide, cadavers, environments, vertebrates, earthquakes, evolution, chemicals. What do all these have in common? The Science Department at C.H.S. Their latest courses are offered from Chemical Bonding to Earth Science. C.H.S. has something on the state mandated Mathematics test. (This certainly says something about the quality of math taught at C.H.S.) New teachers and courses have been added to the department this year. Math for Living and Pre-Algebra seem to be interesting to students.

UNIQUE

Students choosing the advanced Biology course have the opportunity to study and dissect human cadavers. This year students in the class go to Cal Poly with teacher Robert Walker, but next year's plans include having a cadaver right here at C.H.S.

1. Nothing is more important than math.
2. Math really isn't that hard, is it?
3. Chris Cooper giggles her way through Biology.
4. Mr. Payne explains the basics.
5. Mr. Hickey keeps the classroom in order.
6. Hugh Linke looks sceptical.
7. Anita Thomas works to get the assignment done.
8. Stephanie Johnson's never seen anything like it.

We all have a twinge of creativity in us. The fine arts department was here to help let it out.

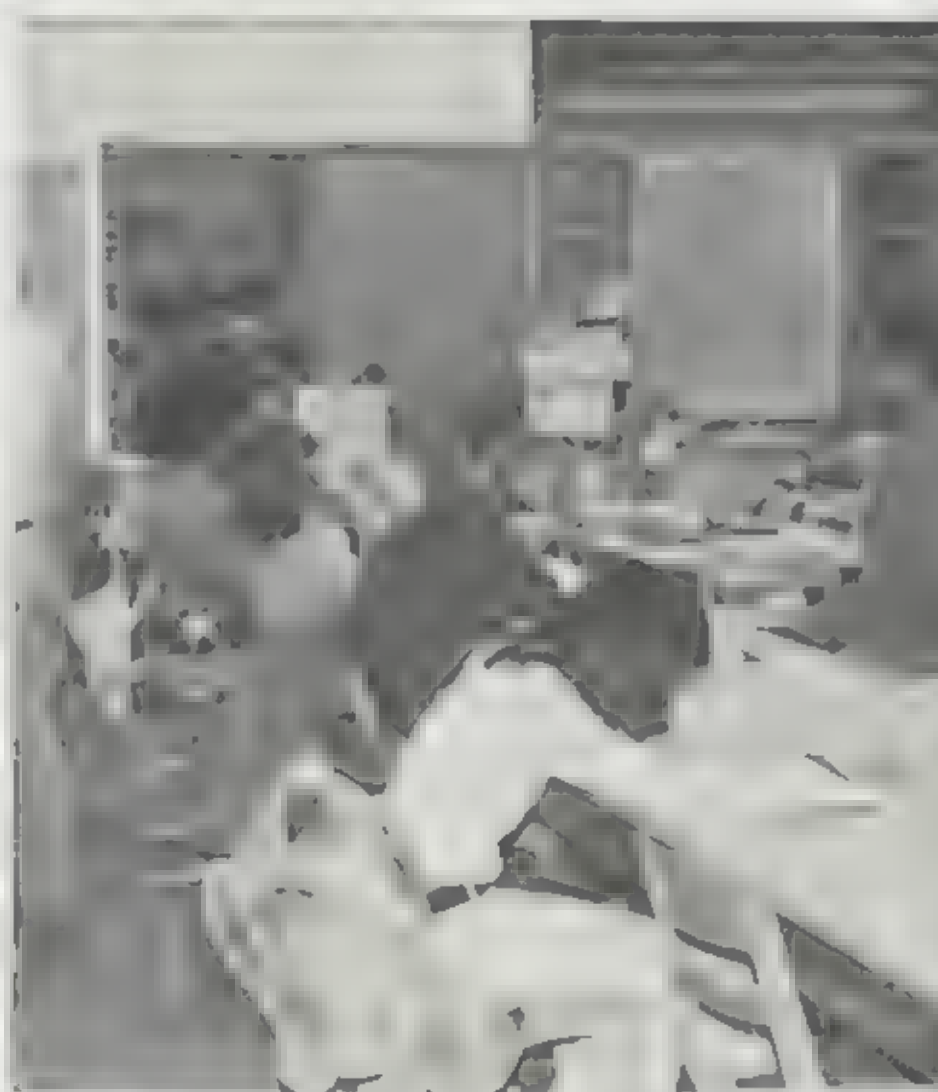

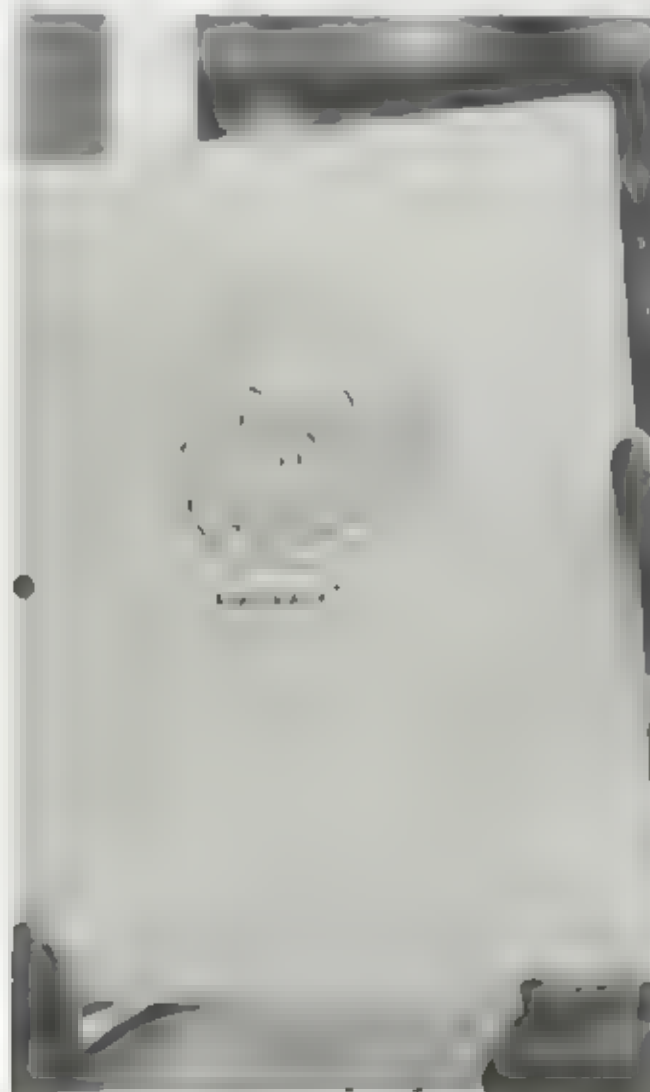

This year, with some building changes in the department, the classes had a chance to

SPACE OUT

A new teacher, Mr. Cortese, sparked a growing interest in jewelry making. Once again ceramics was overloaded, and, as in past years, CHS offered excellent photography classes. Under the inspiration of a department that hoped to increase interest in paint and drawing, art students have produced some high quality art.

As in years before, this years Industrial Arts has many students. Mechanically minded students are able to pursue their interests in subjects such as wood, metal, and drafting, in Claremont's well equipped Industrial Arts Department. Other students and faculty members had the chance to have their oil changed at only the cost of the oil, which gives them a price break, as well as the students experience.

What's new about this year's English Dept? "Everything", according to Mrs. Lengefeld, chairman of the department. Not only are there the typical composition and literature classes, but many new classes such as Humor and Play Reading and Manuscript. Another big addition to the department was the debate program. Along with these new classes and several grants from the school district, the English department has an exciting and interesting future to look into.

SATIRE

Fullfilling the History requirements at C.H.S. is not an easy task. From the first week till the last, the teachers are making sure there's never a or boring week-end. But while completing the numerous papers and studying for tests, students are finding that they are learning many interesting things. Whether it's American Government or 20th Century Man, the teachers are trying to get across that they are up to date and full of the latest facts on almost anything.

Air conditioning, new robes, T.V., Mr. Chacon and Mrs. Allen! The Performing Arts Department has had many exciting developments this year.

Winning became common place for the C.H.S. Marching Band and Auxiliary Groups. Competitions were no sweat as they ripped off three 1st place positions during the half-time season. For the first time the Band was on T.V. this year in the Southgate Christmas Parade.

Mrs. Allen headed the list of changes for the drill team. Under their new instructor, the girls had totally new uniforms, a new style (more dance and less military) and a brand new majorette team. The baton twirlers were a tremendous success.

flute was an exciting new addition for the Stage Band, for they had every instrument covered this year.

The Drama Department was very glad to have their air-conditioning system, and, of course, their new instructor, Mr. Chacon.

Vocal music was very proud of the fact that they had new robes this year. Chamber Singers' were coral and Chamber Chorale's were cream. Advanced music theory was a new class taught by Mr. Brineger.

1. Performing Arts Department displays a winning trophy.
2. Judy Underhill and Mike Radiovic get some outside studying done.
3. Food for thought.
4. Carol Gallardo trying to get it straight.
5. Pencil in hand is the key to learning.
6. Ann Rosseau will get done if it takes her all day long.
7. Patching the Wolfpacket together.

This year the Home Economics department really seemed to appeal to the male sex. Two male faculty were added, coach Helber and Mr. Collins. Coach Helber taught Restaurant Management and Singles Living with Miss Lawlor, while Mr. Collins taught Beginning Foods. One third of the students enrolled in Foods and Singles Living were boys.

Mrs. Walleen's restaurant management class has become even beyond CHS, as it was written about in a Home Ec. journal.

FAMOUS

Nursery School and Child Development were made separate courses. This gave more time for students in the former Nursery School to visit nursery schools in the community.

For those who were fed up with the drudgery of romping from class to class every day, Interdisciplinary studies had the answer. Combining several studies together, Interdisciplinary met for a long period of time in one space. A new added to the program this year was an all day P.E. On alternate Mondays students who were enrolled in P.E. would leave campus and go to local mountains for a hike. Students focused on units in consumer studies, aging, violence in America, and animal and world wildlife. Also they could teach their own mini courses such as how to fry trout, and wax skis.

1. Mr. Shamah films Family of Man class.
2. Pay attention boys.
3. Something sparks Pat Vaughn's interest.
4. For some people, class is a tiring experience.
5. Class just can't excite David Oskamp.
6. Phil Cornell breezes to class.

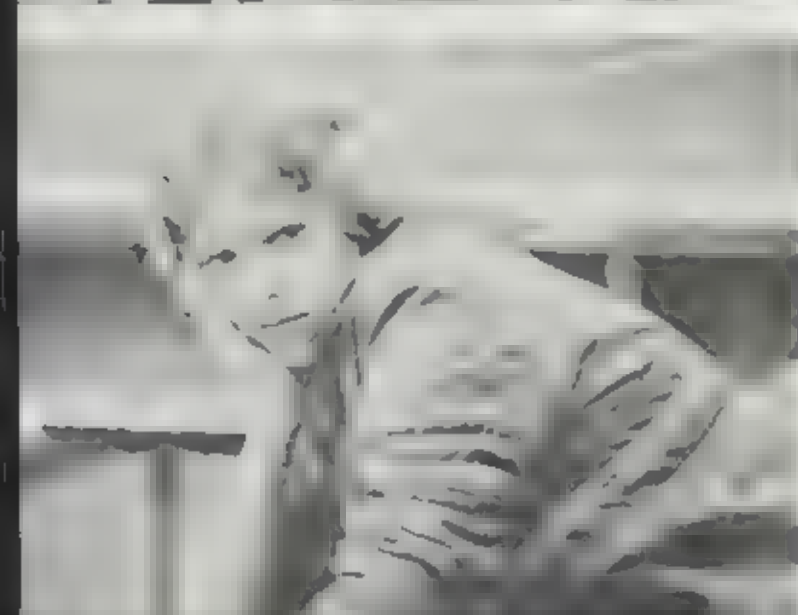

With a new carpet on the floor, Family of Man did a lot of "simulating" this year. Stirring up a sense of community was the major goal.

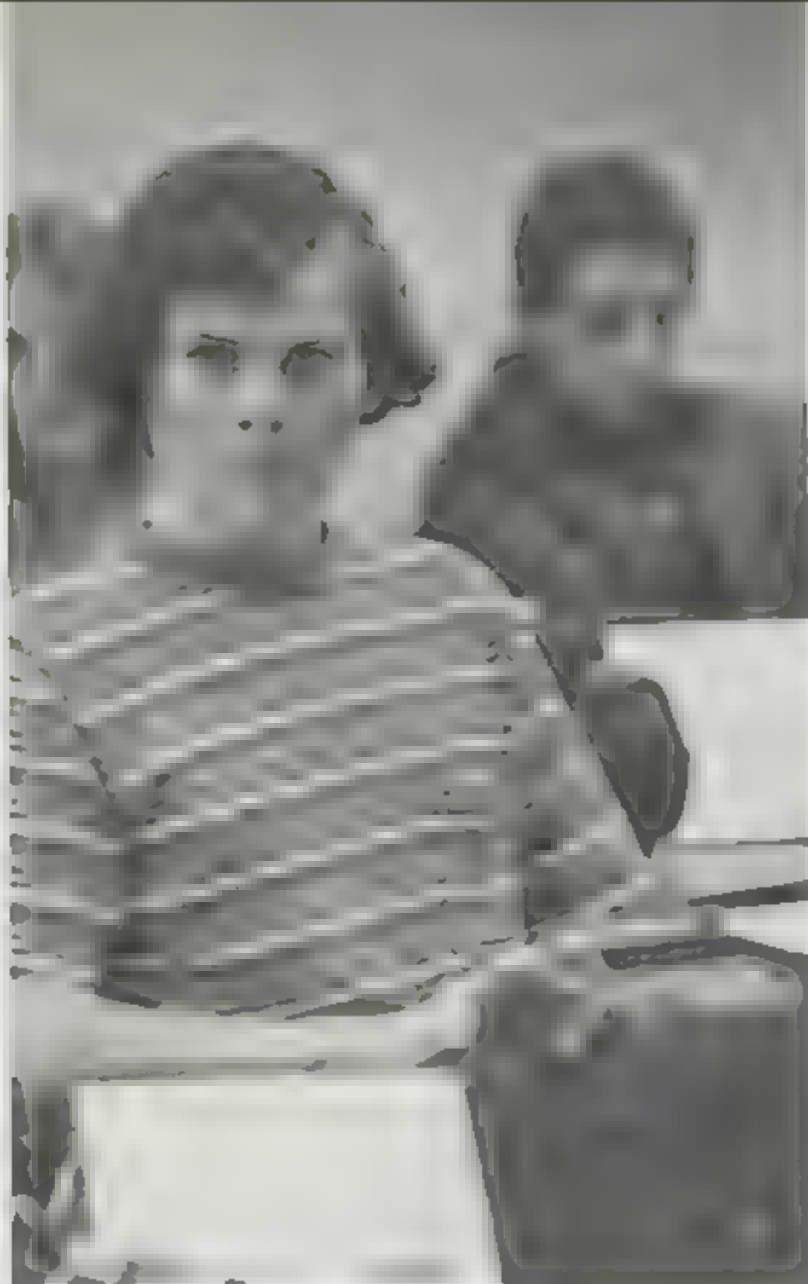

Through

SIMULATION

games such as "Moon Base", "Star Power", and "No Place", this department tried to achieve this aim. Exploration of states of the mind's consciousness was another topic of study. Experiments were done on exploring the "creative" side of the mind. Better awareness and a feel for community was hopefully accomplished in Family of Man's third year.

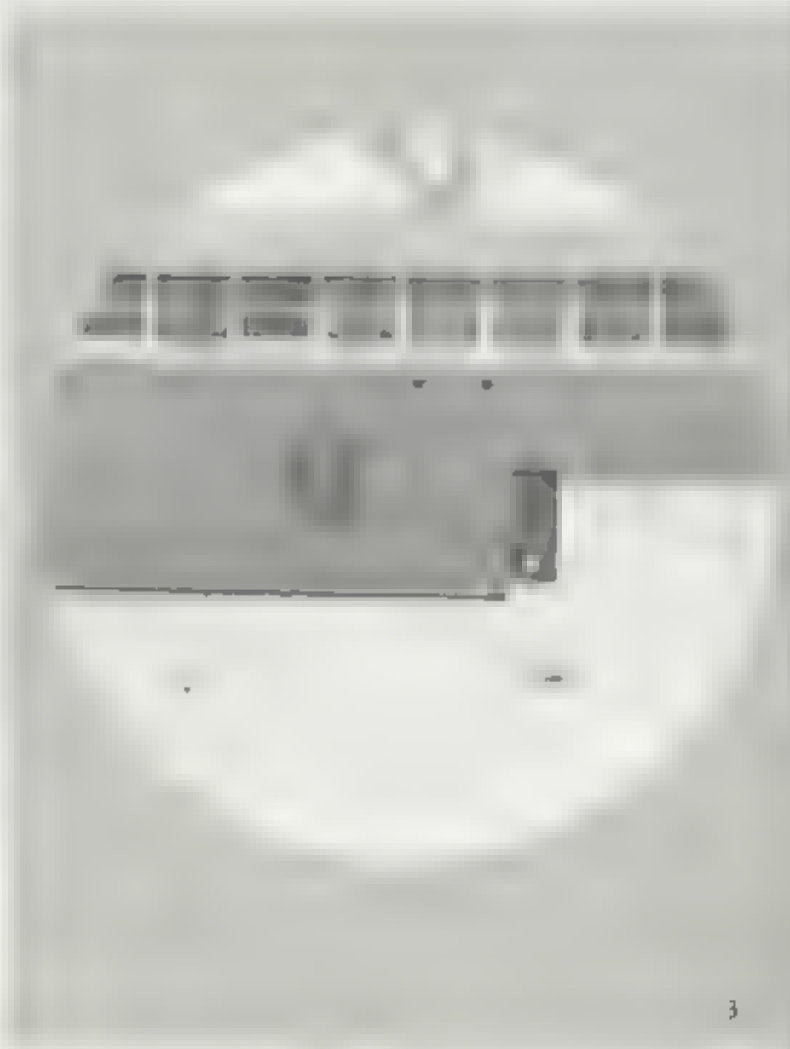

b

Doors are opened to anyone in Business Education. This year the Department offered courses in which agency and hotel were simulated. Real office procedures were followed. Other courses offered were general clerk, business machines and switch board operation. Students learned how to make a living in the new course, Consumer Survival, taught by Mr. Anderson. Another popular new course was Notetaking, taught by Mrs. Hinkle.

Spanish, French and German make up the main languages offered at CHS. While some prefer to just take their two years and be done with it, there is the opportunity to into higher classes for others.

The teachers in the department are always trying new ways to interest their students in foreign language.

But, whether your interest is just another college requirement, or trying to master the whole language, there's sure to be lots of fun in doing so.

Greenhouses, photography, tape production, crafts, R.O.P., and rummage sales were just a few of the activities the O.H. program offered orthopedically handicapped students this year. This group was definitely one of the most active on campus. With about twenty students in the program, they received the individual attention they needed from Michelle Nounnan and Mike Lepore. The program showed that Claremont High is a school of by allowing these O.H. students to get out in the world.

OPPORTUNITY

The Physical Education Department changed from a boys' P.E. department and a girls' department to just a P.E. department, owing to Title IX. The department offered more electives, including beginner, intermediate, and advanced gymnastics and badminton in the gym. The other two courses offered in the gym received a

RESPONSE

that the P.E. teachers had not expected. The weight training course was received so well that the former team room became the weight training room. Also, the self-defense course, which the teachers expected many girls to sign up for, turned into mostly a boys' course. The outdoor sports offered were tennis, which was taught every period, general P.E., and sports conditioning. All classes were co-ed again this year. What's so special about being a junior? Well, for one thing, having class officers like Moni Law, Allison Mowell, Liz Gitner, Sandy Mastin, Karen Faley, Julie Morris, and Kim Creighton. What's so special about being a senior? Having those same hard-pushing juniors to push their fannies off in hopes of putting on Claremont's classiest prom yet.

Jim Young and his gang saw dollar signs combined with pleasure. Activities included an Italian dinner and hypnotist show (no wonder we have so many spaced out people wandering about), a turkey drawing (as in bird, no artistic talent needed), two after game dances, selling munchies to those who devoted their summer to loading their minds (with knowledge, of course), and a rummage sale. With 4,000 of those green gems by January and reservations for a dinner dance at Sheraton Universal, the class was on its way to its goal: giving everyone a truly good time, a tasty dinner, and an memory. The junior class has proved to be, as Jim puts it, "a growing spirit," especially with those junior ladies to cheer them on.

What's so special about being a junior? Ask the juniors yourself and you'll find some answers. For many juniors it's the relief of just getting through those first two years at Claremont.

"Only one more year of school left, you're half way through" was the typical reaction from many anxious juniors. Or, as Linda Lockrem put it, "One more year to go out into the wide world. . . and croak." Annette Frazier has a more positive view. "'Cause you know you have a whole year ahead of you to have fun!" For some (egotistical?) juniors it's a feeling of superiority. As Tory Amick put it, "We're upperclass so we can kick back and just look around."

"Being an upperclassman is what makes it for many of those kicked-back juniors. Or, for some like Kenny Haerr, it is simply 'being one year older.'" But have you noticed a certain craziness among this now less inhibited class? Ask Patty O'Toole: "We can act as goofy as we like and not worry about what freshmen and sophomores think," explains the goofbomb herself.

For some restless juniors it's a special year because "I can go drive" or "I can leave more often and go out to lunch!" For Kim Green and Lynn Hawes (rally rookies) it's "being on rally for the first time." A certain linebacker delights in "playing varsity football and being on council." For those tough ladies it's "because we get to play powder puff" and for the more tranquilized "no P.E."

What makes your sophomore year unique? Many students find that hard to answer. But members of the C.H.S. class of '79 comment that there certainly are many unique things about their year as sophomores. The first thing that comes to mind is 'You're not a freshman anymore!'. Michele Zeffery emphasizes, 'I'll be a senior in two years.' Karen Gaylord exclaims, 'Going out more!' and Dave Mixon comments, 'More parties.'

But as their social life increases, so does the school work. Lori Okun said 'Homework--too much of it!' Many sophomores commented that getting their class rings was a special thing, as was winning the Homecoming float competition. 'Being inside the wolf head and working his jaw on the float,' was unique for Robin Su. Janet Nelson relieved, states, 'No more Seminar 9.' Many sophomores share her feelings! Dale Brooks sums it up positively, 'It's probably one of the best years in high school.'

"You feel like you should always be doing something," reacts Barbara Young to being the sophomore class president. "It's all worth the effort when an activity or a fundraiser turns out a success." Some of the fundraisers for the class have been a car wash, a dinner, a booth at the Fourth of July Carnival and the Yearbook Dance.

According to Barbara, the key to winning the class float competition was not only better organization, but also having Mr. Labarrere as a advisor. Although approximately the same amount of students have been involved in class activities this year, these individuals have worked even harder than last year. Barbara feels that the role of the class council is to bring the whole class together and get them involved.

Barbara's final comment was, "We're a big class and we keep getting better and better. In two years we'll be really great!"

What does a freshman expect from Claremont High? "I thought it would be crummy," said Jackie Johnson. "I didn't think people would be as friendly," commented Gena Pastore.

These were expectations that several freshmen held BEFORE attending CHS. But obviously most of them have let go of this reasoning and now feel quite positive toward Claremont High.

Many freshmen were excited about all the new students to get to know. "Making new friends" appeals to Michele Cano, while "Junior and Seniors guys," are special for Sarah Williams.

At CHS many were impressed with all that was going on around campus. Lisa Juliann implied, "There's more activities and clubs." But apparently Claremont High hasn't challenged some of these freshmen such as Scott Jackson who commented "I thought the classes would be harder". Perhaps such students weren't too disappointed that this expectation wasn't met.

All in all the class of '80 seemed to have started off their years at CHS on a cheerful note.

"It's hard, but I like it," Shelly MacDougal admitted about being freshman class president. According to Shelly, the class of '80's involvement and spirit started out slowly but has certainly grown stronger. The freshman council really had a difficult job since they had to start from scratch with no experience or money in the piggybank. For fundraisers the class held a bake sale, a dance and a raffle.

Advisors Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Waldbott were very helpful getting the class in gear this year. Shelly said they were always there and got things when they needed them. What have the freshmen learned from building the float? "How to do it!" exclaims Shelly. Despite a few problems with their truck, the class made a effort at float building. As the council was getting people involved and the class spirit was building, the class of '80 was on their way!!

DICTEES- DICTATORS

"I have taught more than 4500 young people to drive," said Earl Strang as he anticipated retirement from what may well have been a record-breaking career as CHS's driver education teacher.

Mr. Strang is a native of Hillsdale, Michigan. During the early thirties he attended college, but quit after a year and a half because, during the depression, "You either went to college or ate." He then got a job working on a production line and from there worked up to drafting. He was then transferred to California and lived in Hermosa Beach.

In 1945 Mr. Strang contracted tuberculosis and was hospitalized at Olive View Hospital for three years. His career as a driver education teacher was by his daughter, whom he taught to drive. He thought that someone should teach students the fundamentals of driving, so he returned to college, received his bachelor's degree in 1958, and started his new career.

"I've taught at other schools, and I believe Claremont High is the best! The kids here are really swell. I have really had a lot of satisfaction teaching driver education." Ortopedically handicapped students, thanks to the help of Mr. Strang, can now learn to drive in a special car.

Mr. Strang now inhabits a large, older house in La Verne and upon retiring, plans to fix it up and sell it. Mr. and Mrs. Strang, who have four children and eleven grandchildren, plan to travel leisurely around the United States in a motor home following his retirement.

"I feel I've devoted a good part of my life toward helping people, I think I deserve to retire."

Choosing a lifetime of memories looked back upon in years to come is the job of a yearbook staff and is by no means a simple one. Learning to cope, care, and continue through thick and thin, under all circumstances, is a must. This, the staff of '77, has accomplished for you.

Through it we hope you will not only remember this year, but will cherish it's unique "class" for eternity.

Chris Borrelli and Barkley Loyed exclaim over the accomplishment of what seemed like a never ending year of designs and deadlines.

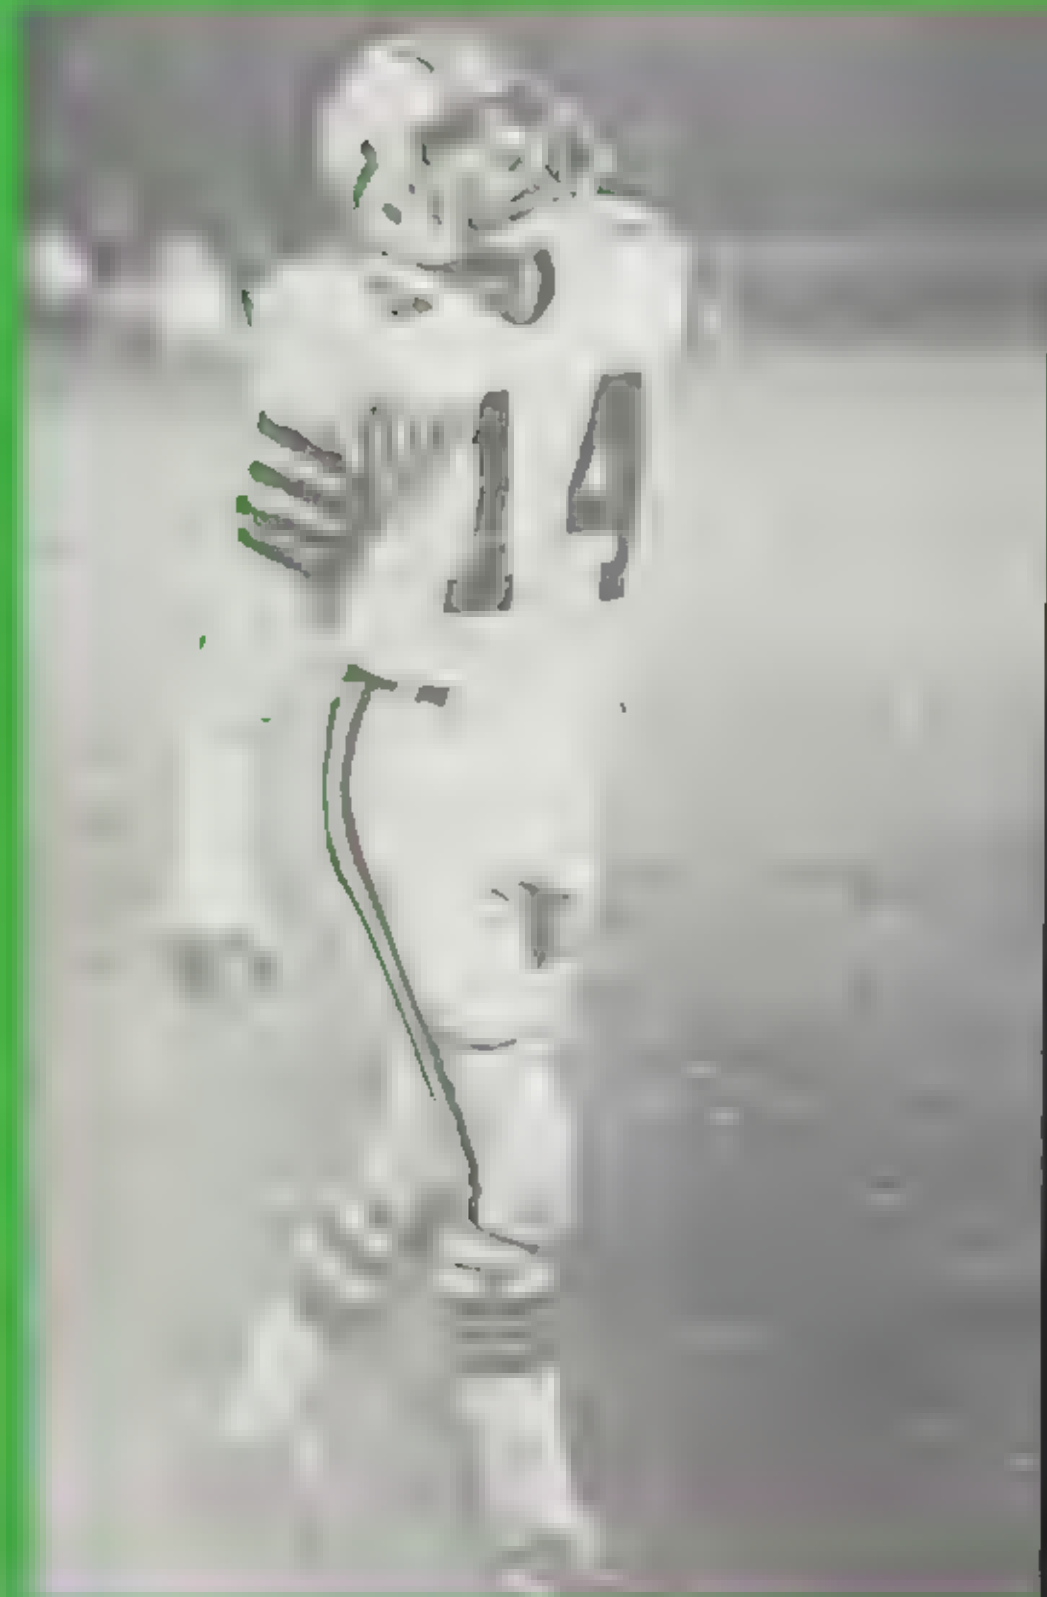

ΕΛΣΕΑΕΕ

Sometimes, when everything else fails, all we have to clutch on to are hopes, dreams and ambitions.
